FUCHS, KENDALL AND MYERS WIN HOTLY CONTESTED RACES FOR CITY OFFICES

N. E. Fuchs was re-elected mayor of Sikeston in the April first election by a majority of 331 votes, defeating an eleventh hour "dark horse" candidate, Earl J. Malone. The vote stood 1052 to 721.

Malone's machine broke down about noon. Up to that time, he more than held his own in wards one and two, according to rumors on the streets at that time. Hundreds of votes began to pile into the polling places in wards three and four, after five o'clock, and boosted Fuchs into the lead with a safe majority. Fuchs maintained a lead of five votes in Ward 1, four in Ward 2, 64 in Ward three and 218 in the fourth Ward. The Malone machine however worked with smoothness and precision in the early balloting, calling for strenuous work on the part of Fuchs.

Sikeston went to sleep Monday in a "Tucker Town" and awoke Wednesday to find Chief Walter Kendall in his old position. Tucker must be given credit, however, with organizing a powerful machine which functioned well in all but one ward. Kendall led by a safe majority in all four wards, but polled his largest vote in the third ward by running up 350 votes to 168 for Tuckers.

The biggest upset of popular "dope" came in the race between Judge Jos. W. Myers, and Wm. S. Smith for the office of police judge. Those on the "inside" were willing to wager on Smith, and the final returns are indication enough to prove that the Smith crowd had reason for its position. Myers dropped behind in the first ward, where Smith polled 220 votes to 184 for Myers. Ward two, however, gave Myers a four-vote lead, which was maintained easily in wards three and four. The final count stood 898 for Myers, 859 for Smith, or a majority of 39 for Myers, who retains his position as police judge.

Roger Bailey, city attorney; P. H. Stevenson, assessor and Elmos Taylor, collector, were unopposed.

In the race for alderman in Ward one, Lynn Waggener polled 239 to 161 for T. A. Wilson, candidate for re-election. C. E. Felker, unopposed candidate in ward two, polled 459 votes; J. Otto Hahs defeated Judson Boardman, candidate for re-election in ward three by a vote of 286 to 182, and R. M. Houchens defeated John G. Russell by a vote of 296 to 107 in ward four.

Election day was entirely free of small bickering even though a huge amount of interest was in evidence.

MUNY LIGHT PLANT ISSUE CARRIED IS OPINION RENDERED BY ST. LOUIS LAWYER

A favorable tentative opinion was rendered late Wednesday afternoon by the law firm of Benjamin H. Charles, St. Louis bond attorneys, who were consulted in the matter by Roger Bailey, city attorney of Sikeston.

In the opinion of the Benjamin H. Charles Company the proposition carried. Incidently, the St. Louis firm is handling Missouri's $75,000,000 road bonds. Roger Bailey concurred tentatively and wrote at once to the St. Louis firm setting forth a more detailed account of the situation here.

The $150,000 municipal light plant bond proposition was by far the most important in the minds of the voters at the April first election. Dudley's Place and The Bijou and the City Hall were crowded from seven o'clock until 10:30 with citizens anxious to get the latest election reutrns. Wards one and two were in and tabulated by 10 o'clock and at that time the bond issue proposition was trailing along needing 17 votes in the two wards.

When Ward four turned in a vote of 343 for to 90 against, the City Hall crowd thinned down. In their opinion, the proposition had carried by an overwhelming majority. Ward three tabulations were not complete until about one o'clock. The count stood 362 for, to 126 against, making a total of 1240 "yes" votes and 517 "no" ballots.

The matter of having carried or lost was circulated about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, when a check on the poll books showed a total of 1886 votes cast for the bond issue proposition. A two-thirds majority of this number is 1257 and ⅓. In other words, the proposition failed to carry by 17 votes.

It is obvious that there is a difference of 129 ballots between 1886 and 1757 (1240 "yes" votes, plus 517 "no" votes,. These 129 mutilated ballots are the ones around which the discussion centers.

According to prominent attorneys here the question is this: Does the vote count in the total tabulation if the ballot is mutilated?

For instance: If John Doe voted "yes" and "no" on the same ballot, or if he failed to vote either way and still dropped his ballot into the box, the question arises: Did Joe Doe vote? There were 129 such John Doe votes.

SEMO COTTON CROP ESTIMATORS WITHIN FEW POINTS OF PERFECT

Jefferson City, March 31.—Last December the Missouri Co-operative Crop Reporting Servcie asked several hundred farmers in Southeast Missouri cotton counties to make a careful estimate of what they thought the ginnings of cotton in their county would be from the 1929 crop, based on their knowledge of ginnings in past years compared to the cotton prospect and ginnings at that time. The final ginning report of the United States Bureau of the Census has just been announced, and a check made of the individual farmer estimates as to agreement with the final county production.

The closest estimate in any other county was made by W. T. Caneer Senath, for Dunklin County, in which the production in 1929 was 67,073 bales. His estimate was 67,990—or 98.6 per cent correct.

Next closest in the State is D. C. Mullen, Broseley, Butler County whose estimate was 6775 bales when the final report is 6932 bales for Butler County making his estimate 97.7 per cent correct.

The closest estimates in the various counties were as follows:

Scott County ginned 9625 bales, and J. W. Baker, Jr., of Sikeston was 96.1 per cent corect, his estimate being 10,000.

For Pemiscot County, with ginnings of 75,262 bales, the nearest was a report having no name of 70,500 bales—or 93.7 per cent correct. The First National Bank of Caruthersville was 70,000—or 93 per cent accurate, and second closest was J. J. Southern of Steele at 68,000 bales—or 90.4 per cent correct.

New Madrid County ginned 36,792 bales, and Alfred Stepp of New Madrid was first—87 per cent correct, forecasting 32,000 bales, while Fred Geske of Matthews was second at 29,000 or 78.8 per cent.

Stoddard County ginnings were 9,161 bales, on which T. L. Crump of Dexter was closest, at 90.8 per cent his estimate being 10,000 bales. E. H. Norman, Parma, was 85.1 per cent accurate, with an estimate of 10,520 bales.

Butler County ginnings for the 1929 crop were 6932 bales, for which D. C. Mullen of Broseley at 6775 made the nearest estimate, being 97.7 per cent correct. John F. Jordan, of Fisk was second with 6000 bales, or 86.6 per cent correct.

Dunklin County's final ginnings show 67,073 bales with W. T. Caneer, Senath, first, at 67,990 bales or 98.6 per cent correct, while L. F. Tatum of Clarkton wjth 69,520 bales stands stcond, or 96.4 per cent correct.

Last December the estimated production for the State was put at 215,000 bales, while the ginnings as finally announced on March 20 were 220,820 bales, the December estimate being 97.4 per cent accurate, as made by E. A. Logan of the United States Department of Agriculture and Jewell Mayes of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture co-operating.

MOTHER OF FIVE DIES THURSDAY AT VANDUSER

Mrs. Agnes Lane, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gober and wife of William Lane, died of septicemia at her home in Vanduser last Thursday. Death came at the age of 26 years, 3 months and 11 days.

Besides her husband, father and mother, Mrs. Lane is survived by five children ranging in age from six to one years, two having preceeded her in death.

Services were conducted at 2 o'clock Friday at the Vanduser Methodist church with Rev. Hargraves of Morley officiating. Interment was made in the Odd Fellow Cemetery at Charleston, Welsh of Sikeston in charge.

Kennett—Dunklin County Medical Society discussed need for county hospital.

FAMILY KEEPSAKE WAITS FOR MISSING LAD

A fine watch, the property of his dead father, left in the hands of W. W. Scott of this city, is waiting for the return of Charles W. Scott, a lad 14 years old, who three or four years ago was placed in an orphan home. Grandfather W. W. Scott has asked The Standard to try and locate the boy so that the wish of his father might be fulfilled. At the time of the father's death, a number of years ago, the watch was given to W. W. Scott with instructions to give the keepsake to his son, Charles.

L. S. Brock, formerly truant officer in the county, is said to have taken the boy to a home or school, but record of his subsequent removal has been lost by the Scott family here.

SMALL ROOF BLAZE MONDAY

Sparks from a chimney at the home of Mrs. Martha Fisher, living at the corner of Scott and Ruth streets, caused very slight damage to the roof about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Dick Swanner and the fire crew extinguished the blaze with chemicals. Mrs. Fisher explained that she had been burning trash in the furnace. The damage is less than $5.

NAB NEGRO SHOPLIFTERS SATURDAY

Two negro shoplifter, Rose Terry, of the John Calvin farm, and Cora Jones at home in the C. E. Felker cabin in this city were fined $10 each last Saturday on charges of shoplifting. Saturday seemed to be an open season date for this popular indoor sport. Two other negro women and two men caught by various Sikeston merchants in the act of taking garments and notions from their places of business escaped from police. The Jones and Terry woman readily admitted taking garments and articles from Sarsars, Greener's, Citizens Store, Whiz Bang and Sterlings.

The two men noted by Sikeston merchants, first visited Greener's where they obtained two caps. When they later entered the Whiz Bang Store and were caught taking another new cap, Jack Morris became suspicious and checked up with Tom Baty, manager of the Greener Store. In the meantime, the negro men made their escape.

J. B. Campbell, of the Citizens Store, caught the negro boys taking a pair of trousers and gave chase. They dropped the garment in the alley back of the shop and were not seen again.

Sterlings and Sarsar's stores reported visits by the shoplifting quartette of negro women but no accurate check on missing articles could be obtained.

Willie Davis, negro, was fined $10 on an old charge of fighting and disturbing the peace.

John Allen, negro, was fined $10 on charges of gambling, and decided to spend 10 days as guest of Sheriff Tom Scott in preference to paying the $10 cash demanded by Judge Myers.

VOTE TO "HANG" EDITOR OF SIKESTON STANDARD

Editor C. L. Blanton, Sr., will be hanged at the Epworth and Hi League carnival set for April 10 and 11, according to those in chrage of the annual affair.

Just what form the "hanging" will take is of course a deep, dark mystery. The solution of the mystery will be available both nights of the carnival upon payment of a two or three cent fee.

The carnival is an annual affair staged in the basement and Sunday school rooms of the Methodist church. A Rudy Valee orchestra and dozens of side shows will be features.

CAMERA PUT ON GUN CARRIAGE IN "NAVY BLUES"

A camera mounted on a gun-carriage on a battleship is one of the novel effects worked out by Clarence Brown, director of William Haines first all-talking Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Navy Blues", which will be shown at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday.

In scenes in which Haines is seen pointing a cannon on shipboard, a unique "shot" of what he aims at was obtained by removing the gun from its trestles and mounting the camera in its place so that it pointed through the cannon's sights.

The new picture is a comedy romance of life aboard a destroyer, with Haines as a gob. Anita Page is the heroine, and Karl Dane, Edythe Chairman, J. C. Nugent, H. Woods Wade Boteler and others of note are among the players. Williams Haines gives an outstanding performance dislaying a talent for dramatic acting which equals his noted ability as a comedian of first rank.

In the building of the frame of the rivetless steel ship which was recently launched, only nine workmen were required and 8000 lbs. of welding wire were used, as compared to 85,000 pounds of rivets, which would have been necessary had the construction been by the riveting method. The preliminary estimate was that a saving of 20 per cent in weight and of 25 per cent in the cost of construction would be realized, as compared to riveted vessels. These figures were verified in the actual work.

TAX COMMISSION RECOMMENDS DROP OF $80,700 IN 1930 VALUATIONS

The Missouri State Commission has recommended a reduction of $80,700 of valuation on farm lands in Scott County from the values on which taxes were paid in 1929.

Farm lands in Scott County were assessed for taxes of 1929 at $8,156,080, and the recommendation of the State Tax Commission reduces it to $8,075,380 for 1930 taxes.

Farm lands in Missouri in 1921 were assessed at $1,767,568,718, and for 1930 the Tax Commission has recommended $1,367,147,258 or $400,421,460 less in 1930 than in 1921; this is a reduction of 22.65 per cent.

The value of Missouri town and city real estate in 1921 was fixed at $1,580,869,265 and for 1930 at $2,209,943,009, or $629,073,744 more than in 1921, an increase of 39.79 per cent.

In 1921 Missouri bank stocks (less real estate owned by them) were assessed at $173,815,990—in 1930 the Tax Commission has recommended a valuation of $90,612,020, a decrease in 10 years of $83,203,970 or 47.86 per cent.

$208 FROM 1½ ACRES IS ARGUMENT FOR HOME GARDEN

Accurate records of produce, fruit and vegetables sold by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Buchanan from a one and one-half acre plot of ground is one of the best practical arguments in favor of a home garden, fruit trees and poultry.

It must be remembered in connection with the Buchanan tract that the 1½ acres also supports a tourist camp 150 feet wide and 200 feet long; a large house yard and filling station. The profits from the tourist camp and filling station are not included in the report given below:

NO LIMIT TO THINGS HUMAN BEINGS EAT

Yes, tastes certainly do differ! Practically every nonpoisonous animal plants is used as food by someone somewhere at some time Maybe the reader doesn't know what a nice juicy grasshopper tastes like, nor has any desire to try one, but there are other persons who do enjoy these tempting morsels—for after all it's only a matter of taste!

"Fastidiousness", says Dr. Austin H. Clark. of the Smithsonian Institution, "is an attribute rapidly acquired by all peoples with increasing prosperity, and one of the first symptoms of an incipient attack is restriction in the number of kinds of food consumed". He reminds us that we "disregard cats and rats, for instance, yet when cooked in other countries and called rabbits these are not so bad".

There is apparently no limit to what man can and will eat. Coming back to grasshoppers, they are served in dried form in restaurants in Calcutta. The Arabs grind them up in hand mills as a substitute for flour or eat them boiled or stewed in butter. Hottentots like them, too, and make a coffee-colored soup from their eggs. Arabs, however, would as leaf have fried crickets.

Hottentots also enjoy a meal of several hundred locusts—raw! Arabs and Moors, though, cook theirs in butter. John the Baptist ate his with honey. American Indians ate the 17-year locust, or periodical cicada, boiled, but white settlers used locusts only for making soap. The ancient Greeks wrote poems about the cicada—then ate 'em. There are other ways to serve locusts on your table—the eggs also may be made into a soup.

In Australia natives eat the Bugong butterfly, while Chinese cook the silkworm after it has spun its cocoon and turned into a chrysalis. Moths are eaten in Australia, Africa, China and elsewhere, and in the West Indies nothing is more tempting to the palate than a nice big caterpillar. Spiders, roasted, are a regular dish in Madagascar and at South Sea is land banquets.

If you have never tried to eat a cockroach you may accept the word of those who have, and enjoyed the experience, that taste something like locusts, whatever that is. Natives of Africa, the West Indies and part of South America eat beetles along with their ants. Some epicures prefer them pickled. In the West Indies also the Gru-Gru grub is eaten raw—it is held by the head and nibbled as if it were a raddish. Ancient Romans grubbed on grubs!—the Cossus variety.

The ant is certainly a favorite tropical dish. It is estimated that millions of these little creatures were eaten last year. It is siad the termite, or "white ant", favorite of Belgian congo pignies, tastes like almond icing; it would no doubt go good on cke. In Kenya colony, where ant eating is a craze, the ants are trapped into pots and the natives scoop them up with both their hands and eat 'em alive! Mexicans eat large quantites of ants. A bread is prepared from the eggs of the Water Boatman, while intoxicating drinks are made from the tiger beetle and the honey-pot ant. Believe it or not Mexicans also eat clay.

Earthworms are eaten by natives of Arabia and India and even the French must have their snails along with their frogs. Basques about Bilbac Spain, relish white, transparent worms about two inches long. South American Indians eat monkeys, but the flesh is tough and strong. Monkey brains on the half skull are a delicacy. In our country we have been known to eat skunks and large fruit bats. Snakes are very good eating, as many Americans will testify. Just imagine a nice, juicy cobra or python steak, smothered in onions—doesn't it make your mouth water!

In Tunis, a French protectorate in Northern Africa, some of the natives have cultivated an appetite for live scorpions. The local holy men even dare eat the poisonous ones.

Probably the most gruesome menu is fish eyes, eaten by inhabitants of the West Indies and Northwestern Asia. A similar appetizer is sheep's eyes which they eat in Asia Minor. And the list goes on—jellyfish flavored with condiments are eaten in Japan, squids and octopuses in many parts of the world, the palolo seaworm (about 16 inches long) in Polynesia, etc. Nearly all kinds of birds are eaten as well as some of the larger lizards. Porcupine flesh is good, so are bear's feet, boiled—but it takes a week to do it.—Commercial Appeal.

And still the twins cntinue to register. The news has evidently traveled far and near, that The Standard wants every set of twins in Sikeston and the county to attend this novel party. We doubt if ever again, will we have the chance to have so many twins together at one time.

The Famous San Antonio Siamese Twins will be hostesses to this big party, and it will take place Tuesday afternoon, April 8 at the theatre.

According to city statistics there should be a lot of twins in Sikeston and so, why shouldn't they take advantage of this opportunity to see and enjoy a personal visit with these famous twins, who were born joined together at birth.

Blytheville according to reports had over one hundred sets of twins at its party. Why can't we beat that record? Twins, come on—free tickets are waiting for you at The Standard office. If the twins are too young to attend alone, an extra ticket will be provided for a parent or some other person to accompany them. There is no age limit to this party. Twins of all sizes, ore welcome.

Only a few days are left to take advantage of this opportunity to be included in this great event. Before the party ends, a flashlight picture will be taken of all the twins attending, with the famous Siamese Twins in the center of the group. Daisy and Violet will also present each twin with an autographed photograph of themselves.

Come in and get your tickets today, you twins.

While cleanliness being next to Godliness is ageneraly accepted axiom, it is also a matter of not that soap, the concrete symbol of cleanliness, is closely allied to the progress of civilization. The discovery and development of economical and efficient soap and soap products marked the beginning of the era in which the human race began its most rapid advance in intellectual and industrial accomplishments. There are many conspicuous individaul cases where genius and soap are not on intimate terms, but, generally speaking, personal cleanliness develops spiritual cleanliness, ambition, accomplishment and a deeper appreciation of the beauties of life.

BLOOMFIELD IS '31 CONVENTION CITY

Bloomfield as the 1931 convention city of the Southeast Missouri Christian Endeavor Union, was the unanimous choice of the annual convention delegates in session last Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Dexter. The specific dates for the convention will probably be held in March next year.

Miss Jessie Lee Hardin of Campbell, Walter Weekley of Sikeston and Miss Helen Wimer of Poplar Bluff were re-elected to serve another year in the respective capacities of President, vice-president and treasurre of the district union. Miss Mildred Kerr of New Madrid was elected secretary and Rev. R. M. Talbert of Cape Girardeau, named for the position of pastor counselor.

Superintendents of departments for 1931 were elected as follows:

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM MORLEY

Miss Gladys Baols of Benton came down Friday for a visit with Miss Mable Foster.

Misses Virginia Mayfield and Ruby Hitt went to Oran Friday for a week end visit with Miss Myrtle Mancil.

Alden Stallings and Miss Marjorie Leslie were absent from school the latter part of the week because of illness.

Mrs. J. O. Huffstedler and daughter, Mildred, went to Canalou Friday for a week-end visit at the E. H. Percy home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell Thompson of Charleston were visitors at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. L. C. Leslie, Friday.

Misses Virginia and Marilyn Eachus of Lambert were week-end visitors of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McDonough.

Garrett Marshall and Madison Zaricor of Commerce were among the out-of-town visitors at the Masonic lodge here Friday night.

Each of the girls is equally skillful in playing either right-handed or left-handed. One day, Daisy plays the "iron" shots,—does all the playing with the iron clubs,—while Violet plays with the wooden ones. The next day, they alternate. The Hilton girls have tried to play two different games at the same time, but after finding that it didn't furnish as much enjoyment as the single game, they have developed a skill in the ancient Scotch game that is as uncanny as it is unusual.

Picnic days are just around the corner. Fishing tackle is being lovingly overhauled and new camping contraptions are looming large in the advertsement columns. One of the most alluring is a small portable charcoal stove with two vertical burners which will broil steak or chops on both sides at once, the fuel being charcoal briquettes ranged along the two sides. Enough heat radiates to boil coffee or vegetables on the flat metal top.

SCHOOL BOARD LETS CONTRACT FOR EAST WING TO CAPE CONTRACTOR-COST $11,783

The Sikeston School Board in session Wednesday night let the contract for the construction of an East wing to the present high school building to S. R. Smith, contractor of Cape Girardeau, who offered a bid of $10,688 for the work.

A heating contract was let to L. T. Davey, local contractor and heating expert, at a cost of $1095, making the total cost of the improvement $11,783. The Board had figured the approximate cost at $12,000.

The cost of this wing, it is explained, is not to fall upon the taxpayers as a special tax item. That amount has accrued in the treasury out of building fund savings over a period of years.

S. R. Smith constructed the Welter building on Center Street. As soon as two jobs are finished, he will move materials and necessary equipment to the Sikeston location. Actual construction is to begin in about two or three weeks, and the work completed by the midle of August or in time for the September term of school.

There is only a slight modification in the interior arangement of the east wing from that of the west wing. Outwardly, there will be very slight changes. A workshop addition to the present manual training department, locker rooms and dressing rooms are added features of the ground floor, according to R. E. Bailey, secretary of the Board. The second and third floors will be composed of one study hall and class rooms, furnishing accommodations for approximately 200 children. It is proposed, according to Roy V. Ellise, superintendent, to move the sixth grade department to the high school building next fall, to allow expansion of the lower five grades in the old building.

A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FROM COUNCILMAN HOUCHENS

Sikeston has spoken and her voice will be heard reverberating through this fair land of ous.

Naturally our hearts are filled with gratitude and we desire to extend our sincere thanks to our committee for their untiring efforts in securing and tabulating facts, and for the splendid report rendered. They deserve much credit.

We also thank Mayor N. E. Fuchs and all his co-workers, for their loyal work, especially Attorney Gresham who used every honest effort in helping to present Sikeston with a municipal light plant on All Fools day. We would not forget the voters, as most all of the credit belongs to them. Their votes decided the issue and our gratitude cannot be expressed in words.

The vote of confidence expressed in ward four is gratifying. We should all be thankful for one thing we have that many cities have not. We have an editor who is not controlled by the power trust, even though at times a silver dollar would look as large to him as a cartwheel, yet he remained loyal to his city, and it was largely through his efforts that success was achieved.

Now that Sikeston is to have a municipal light plant, your plant, my plant—it belongs to us all—we realize the huge task confronting us all.

Before success will crown out effort, we must each put our shoulder to the wheel and work in harmony for Sikeston.

May we all receive the benefit of our labor.

Yours for Sikeston.
R. M. HOUCHENS.

"J. S" STEAMER DE LUXE FINEST PLEASURE BOAT COMING TO CAIRO APRIL 23

The Palatial Steamer "J. S." which made its initial cruise South last Fall will return on its Spring Cruise up the Mississippi. Many of the people were amazed at this beautiful boat last Fall and will be surprised again as she has been redecorated and refurnished and will bring many new added attractions to the already handsomely furnished decks with stemer chairs, wicker furniture, gay colored cushions, gorgeous floor coverings, flower baskets, canopied ceilings, fountain, open air dining room and Venetian Ball Room with gay colored swinging lanterns. If you have not seen this incomparable river craft, you have surely missed something. The Cotton Pickers Orchestra, under the able direction of Fate Marable, will known to music lovers from New Orleans, Louisiana to St. Paul, Minnesota on the Mississippi River, and which is the same wonderful orchestra that played played aboard the "J. S." Steamer De Luxe last Fall, is coming again aboard this Steamer.

The Order of the Rose of the W. B. A. will hold their regular meeting at the Odd Fellows Hall, Saturday afternoon at 2:30. All members requested to be present.

Our 32nd Year in Charleston

YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THE LIKE OF THESE

A number of the best constructed and most beautiful felt mattresses we ever laid our eyes on for the money asked are new items for this week. Prices on them run at $19.50 and $25.00 with the usual discount of 10% for all cash. Our salesmen are eager to show the construction and display the beauty of these new Springfield Felts.

SCOTT COUNTY GETS THE PRIZE

In thirty-two years of furniture selling we naturally have some transactions that stand out as unusual on our records, but a new record was set by Sam Rajotte last week when he sold our good friend Jesse Chappel of Blodgett THREE SELLERS KITCHEN CABINETS. Incidentally, Mr. Chappel paid spot cash which adds to our appreciation of the trade. We would find it hard sledding without the help of our Scott County patrons.

HOW MUCH DID THEY CONTRIBUTE?

A Credit Corporation was recently formed for the purpose of financing Mississippi County farmers over the 1930 crop season. Business interests of the county put in the neat sum of $8000.00 in cash to make it go, with no hope or expectation of receiving any interests at all on the investment. Chambers of Commerce, Lions Clubs, Kiwanis, and other service organizations are constantly at work trying to keep the business ball of Mississippi County rolling along, but we'd like to ask if anyone has seen the names of Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery-Ward, or any other mail order firm on subscription lists or among those who contributed thought and support to these worthy causes?

CAIRO MONEY LOOKS GOOD

Two former customers who now live in Cairo came over recently and picked out some nice pieces and you may wager we took special pains in filling the orders. The new bridge has proven valuable to us in many instances, this being one of them. We expect to register up more Cairo cash from time to time as news of our excellent stock and good service spreads in that direction.

PROBABLY THE LAST

A special purchase enabled us to run a price of $6.95 on 9x12 felt base rugs for the past two weeks. Twelve or fifteen of these rugs are still on hand and will be sold at that low price as long as they last—spot cash of course.

COME WHILE THE STOCK IS UNUSUAL

Living room suites in the latest coverings are here in dozens, in fact, this is the outstanding stock we have had for some years. Most of them came in direct from the factory last week and we are offering excellent service in the way of trades for used pieces. Come and see them before they are picked over.

It looks as though Sikeston would enjoy a building boom this season that will give employment to many workmen and bring to our city contractors and their crews who will leave much money behind. First, comes the addition to our High School building, followed by the installation of the distribution system for the municipal light plant then the erection of the building to house the machinery. This we know to be a fact. It costs nothing to surmise, so we will include the Federal Postoffice Building that we believe will be placed on the market in the late summer or early fall. Then there will be the building of the concrete highway north from Sikeston that will have their headquartres in Sikeston and the payroll checks will be cashed and partly spent in this city. Things do not look so blue to us, and should not, to our merchants and tradesmen.

The Standard is doing no crowing over a defeated foe—only regrets that the fortunes of war can only come to one of the beligerants. Whatever may be in store for the new venture, we can only hope for the best. If it should become necessary for a reduction of force at the Utilities office, if we had a say in the matter, we would take them on the list of the Municipal Plant because their knowledge and training would make them valuable, and their loyalty to the losing company make them absolutely trustworthy.

The present Digest poll may not be representative, nor will it please the W. C. T. U. of this country. At best a straw vote is a straw vote—relatively accurate means of arriving at tentative conclusions if fairly conducted. Prohibition as such has not been a success, economically, morally, socially or politically. If the same results can be obtained by a more common sense method of State regulation; by a modified form of the law, or by another means then it is time that the constitutional amendment was changed.

COUNCIL CHECKS ELECTION RETURNS

The "old" City Council met last Wednesday night to check election returns, and voted to accept the returns. The new board will be qualified and sworn in next Monday night, April 7, date of the regular monthly board session.

New members who will take their places on the board beginning next week are: Lynn Waggener, who defeated T. A. Wilson in Ward 1; C. E. Felker, who was unopposed in Ward 2, succeeding Charles Hebbeler; J. Otto Hahs, in Ward 3, succeeding Judson Board and R. M. Houchens in Ward 4, succeeding Clint H. Denman. Houchens defeated John G. Russell for the position of alderman.

The Council Wednesday heard the tentative agreement on the municipal light plant vote as expressed by Roger Bailey, city attorney. Bailey stated as his opinion that the proposition carried.

In view of the fact that the firm of Benjamin H. Charles, bond attorneys, would ultimately pass judgment on the soundness of the bonds, a final decision would be returned by Mr. Charles on the election results, said attorney Bailey.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM CHARLESTON

Forty members of the T. E. L. Class of the First Baptist church enjoyed a meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Sam Cavitt. The assistant hostesses were Mesdames Fon Finney, W. C. Sutherlin, Will Wright, Cade McElmurry and Mary Hart.

Mrs. Postum led the business session and program for the evening, following which a social hour was enjoyed and games and contests were features of entertainment. Mesdames Ed Townsend and Fred Dark were awarded prizes as winners in the contests. Cherry tarts, whipped cream and coffee were served by the hostesses. Spring flowers were used in decoration of the room thrown open for the guests.

A series of bowling games was played last Monday evening at the local bowling alley, between a picked team of Kiwanians and the Five Pin Kings of this city. The Five Pin Kings made a total score of 5108 and the Kiwanians 4866. Buck Sckyles, of the Kings, made the high score of 236, while George W. Kirk, of the Kiwanians, made 268. Those of the Kiwanians taking part were George W. Kirk, Dr. Spencer Love, Gunter Simpson, Frank Lair, Jr., Harry Bryant and Lanier Byrd. Those of the Five Pin Kings were Buck Sckyles, Dr. Harry Crowe, Harris Smith, M. F Day, Dr. Charles Rolwing and E. B. Hearnes.

USEFUL ARTICLES MADE OF SOYBEANS

The diversity of commercial products manufactured from soybeans was one of the main atractions on the Soybean Exhibit Train operated January 23 to February 27, 1930, by the Agricultural Development of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company in cooperation with the agricultural colleges of the western part of its territory and the mills utilizing soybeans.

The folowing statement by Fred W. Mangelsdorf, president of the Mangelsdorf Soybean Company at Atchison, Kansas, gives a comprehensive view of the extent to which soybeans are used in the manufacture of feeds and other products:

"The principal products manufactured by soybean oil mills are soybean oil meal and soybean oil. The meal is exceedingly high in protein and greatly relished by all farm animals. Soybean meal is used in enormous volume by manufacturers of feeds for all farm animals. Soybean oil meal is also made into different products for human consumption, for soybeans have many uses as human food. The domestic supply of this commodity is so inadequate that it is necessary to import from Manchuria a tremendous tonnage to supply our constantly growing need for feed or varied industrial purposes.

"With the increase in number and development in efficiency of the soybean mills and their products, the crop will continue to meet with a good market as well as show its value for feed and soil-improving purposes. Thousands of tons of soybean oil and products are imported into America annually, representing millions of dollars sent away which the American farmers have the opportunity of putting into their own pockets by giving more attention to this important crop. In 1926, 30,712,000 pounds of oil alone were imported.—Missouri Pacifiic Agricultural Bulletin.

ANOTHER RECORD COW MILKED BY MACHINE

Dairymen have been keenly interested in watching the number of record cows to be milked by machine during the period in which they establish their record. Announcement by the American Jersey Cattle Club, that Tiddledywink's Quality Girl has just completed a 365-day national record, during which she was milked entirely with a mechanical milker, marks the second Oregon Jersey cow within four months, to be milked by that method while establishing a world's or national record.

Quality Girl is owned by Mrs. F. G. Neal of Oregon City, who is the first woman to breed and test a Jersey cow making a 1000 pound butterfat record. The cow netted Mrs. Neal a profit of $976 above feed cost for the year.

The Standard editor is supremely happy over the outcome of the Municipal Bond Election for a Light and Power Plant, and wishes to congratulate the voters who went to the polls and put it over. The revenue from this plant will soon pay the bonds then take up the sanitary sewer bonds, and leave the city a nice income for civic purposes. This battle was won on merit without a cent of money being used and was an uprising of the people. There isn't a chance for it to fail and it should be the duty of every user of light and power in the city to hook up with the Municipal Plant just as soon as it is ready to operate.

The Standard editor voted for National Prohibition way back yonder when Heck was a pup, believing it would be a blessing to mankind. We have wished many times that we could recall that vote and vote for local option instead. We have lived to see boys and girls drink like old topers used to, have read of preachers and good men selling their souls for money, read every day of people dying from poison whiskey until we wish there never was a drop made. Of course, it is their fault, but when you say you shall not, Americans usually try to show you they can. We also wish there was some way that the law could be enforced, or tightened up so no foreign bootleggers and crooks could come into the country We now believe light wines and beer would take the place of bootleg whiskey and be less harmful to the body. What a mess we are all in over an evil that cannot be controlled.

The government at Washington, as is their duty so to do, informs us there are in Missouri, 83,403 illiterates. Yes, there are Blanton, Chilton and Loebe, but who the other 83,400 are we do net know.—Dexter Statesman.

The last minute candidates brought out by Special Interests fared badly in the city election, and should have. Dark horses entered in races are unknown quantities and sometimes upsets the dope sheets. In this instance, it was so obvious why these men were put in the races that it was distasteful to many who would have voted for them if they had been free of Special Interest influences.

A letter from Rev. S. P. Brite at Newport, Ark., informs us that he has accepted the pastorate of the Baptist church at Eureka, Kansas, and experts to be at that point some time this week. Friends in Sikeston wish he and Mrs. Brite good health and success in their new home.

The efforts made to have church socieites and civic organizations enter into the city election fight Tuesday was as unpardonable as was the action of Protestant Church organizations to take sides in the last Presidential election. Church denomination in politics lowers their influence as religious organizations and many in the land will never forget nor forgive the last Presidential election.

Another thing that makes us wish there was no booze in the land was a case we witnessed in New Madrid recently. A crap shooting gambler, bootlegger and drunkard, had mortgaged all his household goods to buy a car. He couldn't redeem the household effects and it was sold by the sheriff in a lump sum. If it had been only the booze fighter that had to suffer, no sympathy would have been extended, but he had a splendid wife and six small children that lost their home and beds. Officers had to go to a drinking joint to get the husband and he was staggering drunk. A good horse whipping should have been adminstered to him.

SEED LOANS TO BE MADE SOON IN FOUR REGIONS

Loans to farmers in storm, flood and drought-stricken areas of the United States, for seed, feed for work stock, and fertilizer for 1930 crops, will be made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture under the authority of a resolution passed by Congress and approved March 3, 1930, a fund of $6,000,000 having been provided in the Deficiency Act approved March 26. This announcement was made today by Dr. C. W. Warburton, Director of Extension Work, and Chairman of the Advisory Seed Loan Committee of the Department.

The Resolution authorizes the making of loans in areas in 15 States, where the Secretary of Agriculture finds need for such assistance exists.

For the prompt handling of applications four field offices are being established a widely separated points. Applications for loans from Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida, will be received at the Farmers' Seed Loan Office, Columbia, S. C.; those from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and Oklahoma, will be handled at a similar office in the Old Custom House, St. Louis, Mo.; those from Montana, Minnesota and North Dakota, from an office at Grand Forks, N. Dak., and those from the flood areas in the Rio Grande Valley in New Mexico, from an office at Albuquerque, N. Mexico. The necessary forms have been printed and are now being distributed to committees in the counties in which loans are to be made.

L. Emory White, who handled the appropriation for loans in the Southeastern States last year, has been given general supervision of the operations. J. H. Lynch, who was associated with Mr. White in the Columbia, S. C., office last year, will be in charge of that office, from which it is expected that the larger part of the fund will be loaned. The St. Louis office will be supervised by T. Wed Harvey, of the office of Co-operative Extension Work that in Grand Forns, by O. S. Fisher, also of the office of Co-operative Extension Work and that in Albuquerque by J. W. Park, of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Advances to borrowers will be made from each of these offices by temporary special disbursing agents asigned by the department for that purpose.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES NEW MODEL "SIX" SEDAN

Detroit, March 31.—A further indication of the advantages which accrue to the motroist through the economies of great volume production is seen in the announcement by the Chevrolet Motor Company today of a stylish new closed model—the Chevrolet Special Sedan, with body by Fisher.

Introduction of the new model, with its many expensive car features, brigs the Chevrolet passenger car line up to nine body styles, three open and six closed. The Special Sedan has been in production for several days and shipments are now going out to dealers.

A leading feature of the new model is its equipment of six wire wheels, with large chrome-plated hub caps. The two spare wheels are mounted in special fender wells. The exterior color scheme combines smart Boulevard maroon on the body with a harmonizing shade of red on the wheels.

Rich appointments found in the interior include arm resst, silk assist cords, combination vanity case and smoking set, rich upholstery fabrics and wide, deep seats with form-fitting cushions.

Like other passenger models of the 1930 Chevrolet, the care is powered by the 50 horsepower, six cylinder, valve-in-head motor; it has fully enclosed, internal expanding four wheel brakes, four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers and a bigger rear axle.

The price of the Special sedan has been set at $725, f. o. b., factory, Flint, Mich.

BLACK WALNUT MEATS ARE IN GREAT DEMAND

Packers of black walnut kernels are having diffculty in securing a sufficient supply, according to C. A. Reed of the United States Department of Agriculture. There is but a very small demand for the unshelled nut, the principal market being for the kernels.

Mr, Reed suggests that those who have a supply of well-cured black walnuts may profitably utilize some spare time by cracking the nuts. The price paid for bright, light-colored, plump kernels is at present 65c a pound in barrel lots and 60 cents a pound pound in semaller lots. The price, however, varies considerably according to the quality of the kernels.

The principal markets for black walnut kernels are Baltimore, St. Louis, Chicago, and New York. It is a good plan, suggests Mr. Reed, to make arrangements for marketing the kernels before the walnuts are cracked. The Department of Agriculture can supply names of firms who handle black walnuts.

ANNUAL CLOTHING BILL FOR TEXAS GIRLS $41.54

Thirty 4-H Club girls in Motley County, Texas, kept records on the cost of their clothing last year as a basis for budgeting this year's clothing expenditures, says the United States Department of Agriculture The girls were from 12 to 17 years old. The average yearly cost was $41.54; the highest, $96, for a girl who had to pay to have her sewing done; and the lowest, $16.70, for a girl who sewed all her own clothes. Ten girls who used four pairs of cotton hose and two pairs of silk paid out $5.36 for this item, on the average, while those who wore silk hose entirely averaged nine pairs, costing $13.32.

The Standard $1.50 per year.

The Sikeston Standard, $1.50.

TURKEY INDUSTRY GROWS IN NEVADA

U. S. Expert Finds It Easier With Small Flock Unit.

Nevada is building up a solid turkey producing industry in a logical way, in the opinion of H. L. Shrader, extension poultry specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, who recently paid a visit to this state.

The growing of the holiday bird in Nevada is on a farm flock basis, the expert stated, with from 150 to 300 birds, as a rule, being raised along with other crops. It is easier with the small flock unit produced in co-operation with other crops, according to the federal man, to raise the type of high-grade bird for which Nevada is becoming known.

Two of the best feeds for turkeys are milk and alfalfa, and these, Shrader said, being produced on the farm with the turkeys, afford good feed at a low cost. With such small flocks, he said, the farm wife can take care of a good share of the work, thus cutting costs, as otherwise extra labor might have to be hired.

The outlook for expansion in the industry in Nevada is good, the specialist stated. Nevada conditions, he believes, are well suited to turkey production.

"Turkeys and chickens should never be run together," he declared, explaining that parasites, little harmful to chickens, but deadly to the bronze birds, are carried by the chickens. Turkeys should be kept far from the farmhouse, he believes.

Sanitation in another means of keeping turkeys disease-free, he stated.

Buy Tested Cod Liver Oil for Laying Fowls

The use of cod liver oil in feeding laying hens during winter months and in raising young chicks during the early spring is one of the recent developments in poultry production. Practically every one who has used a good quality product has found that it has been helpful in keeping up the vitality of the flock, preventing leg weakness in chicks and securing a better texture of shell with eggs.

The reason for the value of this product is largely due to the vitamine D which it contains. Vitamine D is the substitute for sunshine. It helps fowls to properly absorb the minerals which they consume. Without vitamine D or sunshine, fowls will fail properly to absorb minerals, even though they may be abundantly supplied.

The popularity of cod liver oil has encouraged the use of many substitutes. The fishy odor which is characteristic of many of these products is not a guarantee that they are of any particular value from the standpoint of being a substitute for sunshine. There is even a good deal of difference in the efficiency of cod liver oil, so it is well to buy a product that is either tested for vitamine content or guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Turkeys Thrive While Roosting in the Open

It is unnecessary to provide a house for turkeys though it is the part of wisdom to have a shed handy into which they may be driven on extremely stormy nights.

As a usual thing they will do better roosting out in the open even in quite severe weather.

Where only a small flock is kept 15 females may be mated with one male if he is unquestionably vigorous. If a flock of about 25 or 30 is kept, two males will be needed but they should not be allowed to run with the flock at one time.

One should be allowed to run with the flock one day and the other the next.

The reason for this is that where both are allowed to mingle with the flock at the same time, they will fight until one of them becomes boss, after which he will do most of the mating and the flock will be very little better off so far as the fertility is concerned than if it had a single male.

Eliminate Bedbugs

The best method of eliminating bed bugs from a hen house is to first thoroughly clean the entire house, getting out every little speck of both dust and straw. After this thoroughly cleaning, the walls and perches should be painted with carbolineum, and the rest of the house sprayed with a 20 per cent solution of soluble stock dip. If this application is done thoroughly, it will eliminate all of the live bugs, but probably will not affect the eggs. The second application is necessary.

Yellow Corn Best

Yellow corn is especially valuable for winter feeding on account of its fattening qualities and vitamine content. If possible, at least half of the grain feed should be yellow corn. If white corn, wheat, kafir, or other farm grains are fed instead of yellow corn, alfalfa should be added to the rations to help supply vitamines. Alfalfa leaves or alfalfa meal will replace the vitamines of yellow corn if the latter is not available. The winter ration must contain protein.

BLUE JAY BALL TEAM MAY USE BOB MOW, JR., INFIELDER

Fulton, March 31.—Robert H. Mow of Sikeston, has come out for a tryout on the baseball squad at Westminster College in Fulton, where he is a freshman. He is a graduate of the Sikeston High School, where he had four years of experience as a baseball player on class teams.

Mow played outfield, second base and shortstop and at the Blue Jay camp will devote his efforts toward trying to land a job at one of the infield positions. With the exception of Boyd at shortstop, the Westminster team will have to replace men with youngsters and Mow stands an excellent chance of landing one of the places.

Coach J. E. Houston says he is well pleased with the showing of the Sikeston boy so far and that because of his experience in high school baseball, should develop rapidly.

Mow and his associates on the Blue Jay team will play the University of Missouri, this spring, for the first time in several years. The indications are that Westminster will play 8 or 10 games, depending upon weather conditions. Baseball is a very uncertian college sport because of the unsettled weather in spring and the fact that colleges close just about the time the baseball season gets well under way.

Last year Westminster did not play baseball.

At the present time, Mow is 5 feet, 8 inches high, weighs 130 pounds and is 18 year sold. His training in the Blue Jay camp this spring should be of considerable value to him. Mow reports that he is planning to follow the coaching game as a profession.

The Maryville State Teachers Collefe, Chillicothe Business College University of Missouri, Kemper Militry School of Boonville and the Kirksville Teachers are among the teams already booked by the Blue Jays.

SMALL CROWD HEARS GLEE CLUB HERE MONDAY NIGHT

A crowd of approximately 250 persons heard the William Wood Glee Club Concert at the high school last Monday night. The Club, in charge of B. H. Jameson and L. H. Diekroger of Fulton left Sikeston Tuesday morning for a 9 o'clock concert in Charleston, and filled another engagement in Cape Girardeau that night.

The Sikeston concert, according to reports of those attending, was more formal than some given here in the past. The entertainment was highly enjoyable, and seemed to please the small audience.

Glee Clubs from Morley, Morehouse, Matthews and New Madrid were guests of the local school.

Mrs. Caplinger, who has been visiting her husband, left Monday for her home in Jefferson City.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber of St. Louis returned with Dr. W. E. Derris and will visit the Derris family for a few days.

The Arbutus class of the Baptist Sunday school will meet at the home of Mrs. Jeff Hughes, 411 Dorothy Street, Monday evening, March 7. All members are urged to attend.

Golf, according to Jim Barnes, Bobby Jones and Gene Sarazen, must be about the easiest, the simplest and the most natural thing in the world to learn. But according to most "duffers"—devoted followers of the green fairways who spend much of their time and money and usually most of their patience in trying to get their game below the hundred mark,—mastery of golf is the inexplicable, baffling of sport.

As some astute sage once remarked, all things are comparative. Even the most hopeless golf "duffer" might consider his problems simple in matching his own difficulties with those of Daisy and Violet Hilton, "San Antonio's Siamese Twins", who are to appear at the Malone Theatre Tuesday, April 8.

The Hilton girls were born joined together at the base of their spines by an artrial cartilaginous cord. They play a remarkably good game of golf,—the "game" is purposely used singularly, for the two girls play but one game.

Each of the girls is equally skillful in playing either right-handed or left-handed. One day, Daisy plays the "iron" shots,—does all the playing with the iron clubs,—while Violet plays with the wooden ones. The next day, they alternate. The Hilton girls have tried to play two different games at the same time, but after finding that it didn't furnish as much enjoyment as the single game, they have developed a skill in the ancient Scotch game that is as uncanny as it is unusual.

ARBUTUS CLASS MEETS AT FELTNER HOME LAST FRI.

The Arbutus Class of the Baptist Sunday School, held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. C. R. Feltner Friday evening, March 28 with group 1 as hostess. Each member was asked to bring their husband or a friend.

After the guests were assembled in the beautiful living room, decorated for the occasion, they were asked to give a penny for every inch they measured around their waist, this realized a nice little sum to be used in furnishing the class room.

The evening was opened with a hearty hand shake with a paper sack tied over their right hand, followed by numerous other games of amusement and laughter. A prize was won for each game. The guests were also entertained by music and solos by Miss Taylor and Miss Feltner.

The hostess served a delicious plate lunch to the twenty-two members and four visitors pdesent.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Anderson and Mrs. Wade Anderson of Commerce were visitors to Sikeston Wednesday.

Mrs. Harvey S. Johnson will return to her home in Eldon, Mo., this Friday evening after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Welsh. She will ride as far as Columbia with Clarence Woodward, who will visit friends in that city.

COMMUNITY DANCE HERE NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT

A regular good time is promised by dance promoters at a big community affair scheduled for next Saturday night at the New Armory Hall, featuring the Kobler Profilet Serenaders of Cairo, Ill. Merchants are co-operating by offering several worthwhile prizes for the best dancing couples.

The promoters will conduct a "Nite in China Dance" at the Hall next Wednesday night, featuring Johnny Brown's Playtone orchestra from Jackson, Tenn. The Playtone boys are rated as one of the best colored orchestras in the South.

TWO WOMEN START 1000-MILE JOURNEY ON $2

The so-called weaker sex again vindicated its true position this week Wednesday, when Mrs. J. B. Bergmeier and a girl friend started from Gary, Ind., to visit friends in Mississippi, on exactly $2.00. The women were stopped in this city by Jim Pitman, deputy sheriff, who noticed that their Studebaker coupe carried 1929 license plates.

Mrs. Bergmeier paid a small fee and purchased 1930 plates after wiring her husband in Gary for money and continued her journey southward

Mr. Reader, of the Highway Department, left for Jackson Thursday. Mrs. Reader and little son will join him in a few weeks.

JUFFERINGS OF TWO YEARS END; KONJOLA WINS

Severe Case of Stomach Trouble Had Resisted All Efforts to Secure Relief.

MRS. G. NEWBURY

"I believe that Konjola added years to my life", said Mrs. G. Newbury, 1413 Destrehan street, St. Louis. "For the past two years I suffered from severe stomach trouble Soon after eating, gas formed and caused a burning sensation. This was followed by belching of hot, bitter liquids and severe headaches. My abdomen was swollen and tender. Naturally I lost weight and strength. Nothing agreed with me, in spite of medicines and treatments without end.

"A friend recommended Konjola and after inquiring about it, I found that in countless cases it proved the only remedy that brought relief . I began the treatment, and the first week I noted a wonderful improvement. From then on I rapidly gained my lost health. My husband also suffered from stomach and kidney trouble, but Konjola made a different man of him. Konjola surely brought health and happiness into our home".

Konjola is a systematic treatment taken after meals. Quickly it goes to the source of the ailments and, if taken with regularity, it brings new vigorous and abundant health.

Konjola is sold in Sikeston at the Derris Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

TO MY FRIENDS

I take this method of thanking you all for your loyal support in electing me Police Judge to take care of your office for the ensuing term, at a time too, when I was unable to appear among you and assist you as I should, having been prevented by a sudden and severe attack of illness.

It has been said, by Harness Horse people, in Horse Parlance, that a "Guidless Wanderer", is hard to defeat. This is what I was forced to represent in this political race, and proved the addage.

I further assure you that in the future as in the past, I will do my very best to improve the moral condition of Sikeston, a village in my youth and pride in manhood.

Sincerely yours,

JOS. W. MYERS.

Dozens of supposedly doubtful advertising cases are sent to the Better Business Bureaus each day by people who are interested in assisting the Bureaus in building public confidence in advertising and selling. These cases form the basis of both inquiry and complaint.

This co-operation is valuable, for it enables the Bureaus to know what schemes are active, and what misrepresentations, if any, are prevalent.

By keeping the Bureaus informed, they are thus better able to protect you. Money squandered in fake financial and merchandise schemes has a direct and serious effect on the prosperity of every community.

When you receive advertising literature and you believe it deserves investigation, mail it in. When you come in contact with unfair schemes advise the Better Business Bureau. Such a move keeps the Bureau constanly informed, and may save you serious loss.

Or, your action may save thousands of dollars for other people who will be protected through your thoughtfulness.

If you are in doubt, make no decision and send no money until you receive the facts.

Get the facts first.

EXPECT 200 AT COTTON MEETING

Invitations have been extended to 300 farmers, bankers, merchants and other interested in the production and marketing of cotton, to attend a Cotton Marketing Conference called by the Agricultural Extension Service to meet at 9:30 a. m. Monday, April 7, in the Circuit Court room at New Madrid. At least 200 representatives from the leading cotton counties in Missouri are expected to attend this conference to consider to what extent Missouri will co-operate in carrying forward the plans and program of the Federal Farm Board with reference to the production and marketing of cotton.

Among those who have accepted invitations to address the conference are the following: Carl Williams, member of the Federal Farm Board; F. B. Mumford, Dean, Missouri College of Agriculture; Dan T. Gray, Dean, Arkansas College of Agriculture; B. J. Burgess, Executive Secretary Mid-South Cotton Co-operative Association; Charles G. Henry, President, Arkansas Cotton Growers Association; X. Caverno, President, Missouri Cotton Growers' Association, and marketing specialists and economsits associated with the institutions represented on the program.

Admittance to this conference will be by card. Those desiring to attend from Scott County who have not received a card may secure one by getting in touch with A. J. Renner County Agent or some member of the committee.

Barney Gilbert, 18-year-old Los Angeles youth, believes in taking short cuts. Police Judge H. S. Farrell called Gilbert's name in court at Alhambra, Cal., on a speeding charge. "Where's Gillbert"? he asked, looking over the room. "Why he's already served his time", said Police Chief J. W. Thompson. "He hasn't even been sentenced. What do you mean?" asked the judge. Then Thompson explained that Gilbert had presented himself at the police station a few days before.

As many as 600 workmen and seven repair ships were working at one one time on the repair of the trans-Atlantic cables which were broken in the earthquake shock of November last, and while this work has been going on ever since, it is only recently that the labor has been completed. It was necessary to perform much new work in splicing the broken ends, for parts of the cable seem to have been lost entirely.

TOBACCO LEAF MINUS NICOTINE MAKES SALAD OIL AS WELL AS CIGARS

Berlin, March 31.—Nicotineless tobacco leaf which produces both salad oil and cigars will be exhibited in the traveling fair which begin at Cologne May 27.

Although attempts have been made to extract the nicotine from tobacco, it was believed here that this would be the first exhibit of tobacco grown without nicotine.

The salad oil is said to be of fine flavor and nicotineless cigars to have a pleasant aroma.

PHARRIS RIDGE CLUB MET LAST SATURDAY

The Merry Stitchers 4-H Garment Making Club No. 1, met Saturday March 22, with all members present. The meeting was called to order by repeating the 4-H Club pledge. After the roll had been called by the Secretary, Mrs. Brown took up the study of the lesson. The stockings that had been darned by the girls were judged first. Afterwards the pillow case were also judged. Mrs. Brown then showed the girls how to make seven fancy stitches and a nice buttonhole. For the next meeting the girls are to bring along cloth to make an apron, a buttonhole, and have their scarfs completed. They will meet April 5 at the home of the president, Edith Hensley.

PREVENT CROWDING AND SMOTHERING OF CHICKS

When the right temperature is maintained in the brooder house, there is less possibility of the chicks developing the habit of crowding. To begin with, the temperature should be 95 to 98 degrees Fahrenheit, two inches above the floor at the edge of the canopy or 1½ to 2 feet from the stove. As the chicks grow older the temperature may be reduced almost one degree each day until 70 degrees Fahrenheit is reached according to Berley Winton of the College of Agriculture, who has been working with County Agent Renner.

Even though the temperature is properly maintained, chicks may learn to crowd and smother each other. To prevent this, one may use a light in the house at night. If electricity is available, a ten watt bulb will give sufficient light for a 10x12 brooder house. A lantern that is kept clean will also give sufficient light so that the chicks can see to get away from each other. An intensely bright light is not advocated for this purpose. The disadvantage in using a lantern arises from a greater danger of fire.

ORAN FARMER HAS GOOD LUCK WITH BABY CHICKS

Two hundred and thirteen chicks raised to seven weeks of age without losing a single chick are the results obtained by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pobst of Caney Creek, north of Oran. These chicks were hatched on February 3, put into a comfortable brooder house and given the corn and mash ration as recommended by the County Agent.

Mrs. Pobst stated to County Agent Renner that she had never been so successful in raising chicks as she was this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Pobst, north of Oran, on February 6, placed 197 Buff Rock chicks in their brooder house. On March 29, they had lost only 5½ per cent of their chicks. The first feed for these chicks was finely cracked yellow corn. Every two hours they alternated the feed giving cracked yellow corn for the first feed in the morning then within two hours a mash feed, the next two hours yellow corn was given, etc.

CHARLESTON ELECTION IS QUIET AFFAIR

Charleston, April 2.—The municipal election which was held here yesterday was a very quiet affair.

Councilmen on the Democratic ticket were elected as follows:

1st Ward—Chas. W. Reid 39 votes.
2nd Ward—Harry T. Bryant, 31.
3rd Ward—Henry A. Brasher, 24.
4th Ward—George Cox, 25.

The first three were elected without any opponents, in the fourth there was a few votes cast for P. L. Bastain. For school district—Robert Fowlkes, 118 votes and Elmer Oliver, 119 votes, were elected without opposition as school directors. For nine months school—125 for, 12 against.

To levy tax of sixty cents in excess of forty cents on the hundred dollars valuation for school purposes, 114 votes for, 26 against.

To levy a tax of twenty cents on the $100 valuation for repairing and furnishing the school buildings of the district, 103 for, 34 against.

To change the boundaries of the school district as set out in the notices of election, 145 for, 7 against.

A FAIR PRICE FOR SILAGE

Because silage does not enter generally into trade, there is no widely accepted method of figuring its value. Such a plan would be helpful since silage is one of the leading cattle feeds and is often sold in quantities to neighbors, by farmers who have a surplus.

Analysis by the dairy department of the Ohio Experiment Station show that good corn silage contains approximately one-third as many nutrients, by weight, as high grade mixed hay. In this case a fair price for silage can be computed by taking a third of the market price per ton for hay.

If the price of hay is unusually low or high, the Ohio station reports that the value of silage may be figured by allowing from four to five bushels of grain, and about 500 pounds of dry stover per ton of ensilage. This price will usually compare closely with that obtained by taking one-third the price of hay.

FUCHS, KENDALL AND MYERS WIN HOTLY CONTESTED RACES FOR CITY OFFICES

N. E. Fuchs was re-elected mayor of Sikeston in the April first election by a majority of 331 votes, defeating an eleventh hour "dark horse" candidate, Earl J. Malone. The vote stood 1052 to 721.

Malone's machine broke down about noon. Up to that time, he more than held his own in wards one and two, according to rumors on the streets at that time. Hundreds of votes began to pile into the polling places in wards three and four, after five o'clock, and boosted Fuchs into the lead with a safe majority. Fuchs maintained a lead of five votes in Ward 1, four in Ward 2, 64 in Ward three and 218 in the fourth Ward. The Malone machine however worked with smoothness and precision in the early balloting, calling for strenuous work on the part of Fuchs.

Sikeston went to sleep Monday in a "Tucker Town" and awoke Wednesday to find Chief Walter Kendall in his old position. Tucker must be given credit, however, with organizing a powerful machine which functioned well in all but one ward. Kendall led by a safe majority in all four wards, but polled his largest vote in the third ward by running up 350 votes to 168 for Tuckers.

The biggest upset of popular "dope" came in the race between Judge Jos. W. Myers, and Wm. S. Smith for the office of police judge. Those on the "inside" were willing to wager on Smith, and the final returns are indication enough to prove that the Smith crowd had reason for its position. Myers dropped behind in the first ward, where Smith polled 220 votes to 184 for Myers. Ward two, however, gave Myers a four-vote lead, which was maintained easily in wards three and four. The final count stood 898 for Myers, 859 for Smith, or a majority of 39 for Myers, who retains his position as police judge.

Roger Bailey, city attorney; P. H. Stevenson, assessor and Elmos Taylor, collector, were unopposed.

In the race for alderman in Ward one, Lynn Waggener polled 239 to 161 for T. A. Wilson, candidate for re-election. C. E. Felker, unopposed candidate in ward two, polled 459 votes; J. Otto Hahs defeated Judson Boardman, candidate for re-election in ward three by a vote of 286 to 182, and R. M. Houchens defeated John G. Russell by a vote of 296 to 107 in ward four.

Election day was entirely free of small bickering even though a huge amount of interest was in evidence.

SEMO COTTON CROP ESTIMATORS WITHIN FEW POINTS OF PERFECT

Jefferson City, March 31.—Last December the Missouri Co-operative Crop Reporting Servcie asked several hundred farmers in Southeast Missouri cotton counties to make a careful estimate of what they thought the ginnings of cotton in their county would be from the 1929 crop, based on their knowledge of ginnings in past years compared to the cotton prospect and ginnings at that time. The final ginning report of the United States Bureau of the Census has just been announced, and a check made of the individual farmer estimates as to agreement with the final county production.

The closest estimate in any other county was made by W. T. Caneer Senath, for Dunklin County, in which the production in 1929 was 67,073 bales. His estimate was 67,990—or 98.6 per cent correct.

Next closest in the State is D. C. Mullen, Broseley, Butler County whose estimate was 6775 bales when the final report is 6932 bales for Butler County making his estimate 97.7 per cent correct.

The closest estimates in the various counties were as follows:

Scott County ginned 9625 bales, and J. W. Baker, Jr., of Sikeston was 96.1 per cent corect, his estimate being 10,000.

For Pemiscot County, with ginnings of 75,262 bales, the nearest was a report having no name of 70,500 bales—or 93.7 per cent correct. The First National Bank of Caruthersville was 70,000—or 93 per cent accurate, and second closest was J. J. Southern of Steele at 68,000 bales—or 90.4 per cent correct.

New Madrid County ginned 36,792 bales, and Alfred Stepp of New Madrid was first—87 per cent correct, forecasting 32,000 bales, while Fred Geske of Matthews was second at 29,000 or 78.8 per cent.

Stoddard County ginnings were 9,161 bales, on which T. L. Crump of Dexter was closest, at 90.8 per cent his estimate being 10,000 bales. E. H. Norman, Parma, was 85.1 per cent accurate, with an estimate of 10,520 bales.

Butler County ginnings for the 1929 crop were 6932 bales, for which D. C. Mullen of Broseley at 6775 made the nearest estimate, being 97.7 per cent correct. John F. Jordan, of Fisk was second with 6000 bales, or 86.6 per cent correct.

Dunklin County's final ginnings show 67,073 bales with W. T. Caneer, Senath, first, at 67,990 bales or 98.6 per cent correct, while L. F. Tatum of Clarkton wjth 69,520 bales stands stcond, or 96.4 per cent correct.

Last December the estimated production for the State was put at 215,000 bales, while the ginnings as finally announced on March 20 were 220,820 bales, the December estimate being 97.4 per cent accurate, as made by E. A. Logan of the United States Department of Agriculture and Jewell Mayes of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture co-operating.

MOTHER OF FIVE DIES THURSDAY AT VANDUSER

Mrs. Agnes Lane, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gober and wife of William Lane, died of septicemia at her home in Vanduser last Thursday. Death came at the age of 26 years, 3 months and 11 days.

Besides her husband, father and mother, Mrs. Lane is survived by five children ranging in age from six to one years, two having preceeded her in death.

Services were conducted at 2 o'clock Friday at the Vanduser Methodist church with Rev. Hargraves of Morley officiating. Interment was made in the Odd Fellow Cemetery at Charleston, Welsh of Sikeston in charge.

BAKER AND SIKES ELECTED TO MEMBERSHIP OF BOARD

J. W. Baker, Jr., and W. H. Sikes were elected members of the Sikeston School Board in the City election held here April 1. The tabulated voted by wards is given below.

Both tax levies carried by a satisfactory majority. The one dollar levy carried 1047 to 375. The 40 cent building fund levy carried 1066 to 341.

Ward	1	2	3	4
Baker	386	355	400	404
Sikes	376	352	387	402

$1 levy—yes: Ward 1, 284; Ward 2, 244; Ward 3, 260; Ward 4, 259. Total 1047.

No—Ward 1, 63; Ward 2, 92; Ward 3, 116; Ward 4, 104. Total 375.

40c levy—Yes: Ward 1, 273; Ward 2, 250; Ward 3, 285; Ward 4, 258. Total 1066.

No—Ward 1, 62; Ward 2, 88; Ward 3, 107; Ward 4, 84. Total 341.

FAMILY KEEPSAKE WAITS FOR MISSING LAD

A fine watch, the property of his dead father, left in the hands of W. W. Scott of this city, is waiting for the return of Charles W. Scott, a lad 14 years old, who three or four years ago was placed in an orphan home. Grandfather W. W. Scott has asked The Standard to try and locate the boy so that the wish of his father might be fulfilled. At the time of the father's death, a number of years ago, the watch was given to W. W. Scott with instructions to give the keepsake to his son, Charles.

L. S. Brock, formerly truant officer in the county, is said to have taken the boy to a home or school, but record of his subsequent removal has been lost by the Scott family here.

SMALL ROOF BLAZE MONDAY

Sparks from a chimney at the home of Mrs. Martha Fisher, living at the corner of Scott and Ruth streets, caused very slight damage to the roof about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Dick Swanner and the fire crew extinguished the blaze with chemicals. Mrs. Fisher explained that she had been burning trash in the furnace. The damage is less than $5.

NAB NEGRO SHOPLIFTERS SATURDAY

Two negro shoplifter, Rose Terry, of the John Calvin farm, and Cora Jones at home in the C. E. Felker cabin in this city were fined $10 each last Saturday on charges of shoplifting. Saturday seemed to be an open season date for this popular indoor sport. Two other negro women and two men caught by various Sikeston merchants in the act of taking garments and notions from their places of business escaped from police. The Jones and Terry woman readily admitted taking garments and articles from Sarsars, Greener's, Citizens Store, Whiz Bang and Sterlings.

The two men noted by Sikeston merchants, first visited Greener's where they obtained two caps. When they later entered the Whiz Bang Store and were caught taking another new cap, Jack Morris became suspicious and checked up with Tom Baty, manager of the Greener Store. In the meantime, the negro men made their escape.

J. B. Campbell, of the Citizens Store, caught the negro boys taking a pair of trousers and gave chase. They dropped the garment in the alley back of the shop and were not seen again.

Sterlings and Sarsar's stores reported visits by the shoplifting quartette of negro women but no accurate check on missing articles could be obtained.

Willie Davis, negro, was fined $10 on an old charge of fighting and disturbing the peace.

John Allen, negro, was fined $10 on charges of gambling, and decided to spend 10 days as guest of Sheriff Tom Scott in preference to paying the $10 cash demanded by Judge Myers.

VOTE TO 'HANG" EDITOR OF SIKESTON STANDARD

Editor C. L. Blanton, Sr., will be hanged at the Epworth and Hi League carnival set for April 10 and 11, according to those in chrage of the annual affair.

Just what form the "hanging" will take is of course a deep, dark mystery. The solution of the mystery will be available both nights of the carnival upon payment of a two or three cent fee.

The carnival is an annual affair staged in the basement and Sunday school rooms of the Methodist church. A Rudy Valee orchestra and dozens of side shows will be features.

CAMERA PUT ON GUN CARRIAGE IN "NAVY BLUES"

A camera mounted on a gun-carriage on a battleship is one of the novel effects worked out by Clarence Brown, director of William Haines first all-talking Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Navy Blues", which will be shown at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday.

In scenes in which Haines is seen pointing a cannon on shipboard, a unique "shot" of what he aims at was obtained by removing the gun from its trestles and mounting the camera in its place so that it pointed through the cannon's sights.

The new picture is a comedy romance of life aboard a destroyer, with Haines as a gob. Anita Page is the heroine, and Karl Dane, Edythe Chairman, J. C. Nugent, H. Woods, Wade Boteler and others of note are among the players. Williams Haines gives an outstanding performance dislaying a talent for dramatic acting which equals his noted ability as a comedian of first rank.

In the building of the frame of the rivetless steel ship which was recently launched, only nine workmen were required and 8000 lbs. of welding wire were used, as compared to 85,000 pounds of rivets, which would have been necessary had the construction been by the riveting method. The preliminary estimate was that a saving of 20 per cent in weight and of 25 per cent in the cost of construction would be realized, as compared to riveted vessels. These figures were verified in the actual work.

MUNY LIGHT PLANT ISSUE CARRIED IS OPINION RENDERED BY ST. LOUIS LAWYER

A favorable tentative opinion was rendered late Wednesday afternoon by the law firm of Benjamin H. Charles, St. Louis bond attorneys, who were consulted in the matter by Roger Bailey, city attorney of Sikeston.

In the opinion of the Benjamin H. Charles Company the proposition carried. Incidently, the St. Louis firm is handling Missouri's $75,000,000 road bonds. Roger Bailey concurred tentatively and wrote at once to the St. Louis firm setting forth a more detailed account of the situation here.

The $150,000 municipal light plant bond proposition was by far the most important in the minds of the voters at the April first election. Dudley's Place and The Bijou and the City Hall were crowded from seven o'clock until 10:30 with citizens anxious to get the latest election reutrns. Wards one and two were in and tabulated by 10 o'clock and at that time the bond issue proposition was trailing along needing 17 votes in the two wards.

When Ward four turned in a vote of 343 for to 90 against, the City Hall crowd thinned down. In their opinion, the proposition had carried by an overwhelming majority. Ward three tabulations were not complete until about one o'clock. The count stood 362 for, to 126 against, making a total of 1240 "yes" votes and 517 "no" ballots.

The matter of having carried or lost was circulated about 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, when a check on the poll books showed a total of 1886 votes cast for the bond issue proposition. A two-thirds majority of this number is 1257 and ⅓. In other words, the proposition failed to carry by 17 votes.

It is obvious that there is a difference of 129 ballots between 1886 and 1757 (1240 "yes" votes, plus 517 "no" votes,. These 129 mutilated ballots are the ones around which the discussion centers.

According to prominent attorneys here the question is this: Does the vote count in the total tabulation if the ballot is mutilated?

For instance: If John Doe voted "yes" and "no" on the same ballot, or if he failed to vote either way and still dropped his ballot into the box, the question arises: Did Joe Doe vote? There were 129 such John Doe votes.

TAX COMMISSION RECOMMENDS DROP OF $80,700 IN 1930 VALUATIONS

The Missouri State Commission has recommended a reduction of $80,700 of valuation on farm lands in Scott County from the values on which taxes were paid in 1929.

Farm lands in Scott County were assessed for taxes of 1929 at $8,156,080, and the recommendation of the State Tax Commission reduces it to $8,075,380 for 1930 taxes.

Farm lands in Missouri in 1921 were assessed at $1,767,568,718, and for 1930 the Tax Commission has recommended $1,367,147,258 or $400,421,460 less in 1930 than in 1921; this is a reduction of 22.65 per cent.

The value of Missouri town and city real estate in 1921 was fixed at $1,580,869,265 and for 1930 at $2,209,943,009, or $629,073,744 more than in 1921, an increase of 39.79 per cent.

In 1921 Missouri bank stocks (less real estate owned by them) were assessed at $173,815,990—in 1930 the Tax Commission has recommended a valuation of $90,612,020, a decrease in 10 years of $83,203,970 or 47.86 per cent.

$208 FROM 1½ ACRES IS ARGUMENT FOR HOME GARDEN

Accurate records of produce, fruit and vegetables sold by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Buchanan from a one and one-half acre plot of ground is one of the best practical arguments in favor of a home garden, fruit trees and poultry.

It must be remembered in connection with the Buchanan tract that the 1½ acres also supports a tourist camp 150 feet wide and 200 feet long; a large house yard and filling station. The profits from the tourist camp and filling station are not included in the report given below:

Strawberries, 510 qts.	$ 79.00
Irish potatoes, 7 bu.	7.00
Sweet potatoes, 28 bu.	28.00
Onions, 500 lbs.	7.50

NO LIMIT TO THINGS HUMAN BEINGS EAT

Yes, tastes certainly do differ! Practically every nonpoisonous animal plants is used as food by someone somewhere at some time. Maybe the reader doesn't know what a nice juicy grasshopper tastes like, nor has any desire to try one, but there are other persons who do enjoy these tempting morsels—for after all it's only a matter of taste!

"Fastidiousness", says Dr. Austin H. Clark. of the Smithsonian Institution, "is an attribute rapidly acquired by all peoples with increasing prosperity, and one of the first symptoms of an incipient attack is restriction in the number of kinds of food consumed". He reminds us that we "disregard cats and rats, for instance, yet when cooked in other countries and called rabbits these are not so bad".

There is apparently no limit to what man can and will eat. Coming back to grasshoppers, they are served in dried form in restaurants in Calcutta. The Arabs grind them up in hand mills as a substitute for flour or eat them boiled or stewed in butter. Hottentots like them, too, and make a coffee-colored soup from their eggs. Arabs, however, would as leaf have fried crickets.

Hottentots also enjoy a meal of several hundred locusts—raw! Arabs and Moors, though, cook theirs in butter. John the Baptist ate his with honey. American Indians ate the 17-year locust, or periodical cicada, boiled, but white settlers used locusts only for making soap. The ancient Greeks wrote poems about the cicada—then ate 'em. There are other ways to serve locusts on your table—the eggs also may be made into a soup.

In Australia natives eat the Bugong butterfly, while Chinese cook the silkworm after it has spun its cocoon and turned into a chrysalis. Moths are eaten in Australia, Africa, China and elsewhere, and in the West Indies nothing is more tempting to the palate than a nice big caterpillar. Spiders, roasted, are a regular dish in Madagascar and at South Sea. is land banquets.

If you have never tried to eat a cockroach you may accept the word of those who have, and enjoyed the experience, that taste something like locusts, whatever that is. Natives of Africa, the West Indies and part of South America eat beetles along with their ants. Some epicures prefer them pickled. In the West Indies also the Gru-Gru grub is eaten raw—it is held by the head and nibbled as if it were a raddish. Ancient Romans grubbed on grubs!—the Cossus variety.

The ant is certainly a favorite tropical dish. It is estimated that millions of these little creatures were eaten last year. It is siad the termite, or "white ant", favorite of Belgian congo pignies, tastes like almond icing; it would no doubt go good on cke. In Kenya colony, where ant eating is a craze, the ants are trapped into pots and the natives scoop them up with both their hands and eat 'em alive! Mexicans eat large quantites of ants. A bread is prepared from the eggs of the Water Boatman, while intoxicating drinks are made from the tiger beetle and the honey-pot ant. Believe it or not Mexicans also eat clay.

Earthworms are eaten by natives of Arabia and India and even the French must have their snails along with their frogs. Basques about Bilbac Spain, relish white, transparent worms about two inches long. South American Indians eat monkeys, but the flesh is tough and strong. Monkey brains on the half skull are a delicacy. In our country we have been known to eat skunks and large fruit bats. Snakes are very good eating, as many Americans will testify. Just imagine a nice, juicy cobra or python steak, smothered in onions—doesn't it make your mouth water!

In Tunis, a French protectorate in Northern Africa, some of the natives have cultivated an appetite for live scorpions. The local holy men even dare eat the poisonous ones.

Probably the most gruesome menu is fish eyes, eaten by inhabitants of the West Indies and Northwestern Asia. A similar appetizer is sheep's eyes which they eat in Asia Minor. And the list goes on—jellyfish flavored with condiments are eaten in Japan, squids and octopuses in many parts of the world, the palolo seaworm (about 16 inches long) in Polynesia, etc. Nearly all kinds of birds are eaten as well as some of the larger lizards. Porcupine flesh is good, so are bear's feet, boiled—but it takes a week to do it.—Commercial Appeal.

And still the twins cntinue to register. The news has evidently traveled far and near, that The Standard wants every set of twins in Sikeston and the county to attend this novel party. We doubt if ever again, will we have the chance to have so many twins together at one time.

The Famous San Antonio Siamese Twins will be hostesses to this big party, and it will take place Tuesday afternoon, April 8 at the theatre.

According to city statistics there should be a lot of twins in Sikeston and so, why shouldn't they take advantage of this opportunity to see and enjoy a personal visit with these famous twins, who were born joined together at birth.

Blytheville according to reports had over one hundred sets of twins at its party. Why can't we beat that record? Twins, come on—free tickets are waiting for you at The Standard office. If the twins are too young to attend alone, an extra ticket will be provided for a parent or some other person to accompany them. There is no age limit to this party. Twins of all sizes, ore welcome.

Only a few days are left to take advantage of this opportunity to be included in this great event. Before the party ends, a flashlight picture will be taken of all the twins attending, with the famous Siamese Twins in the center of the group. Daisy and Violet will also present each twin with an autographed photograph of themselves.

Come in and get your tickets today, you twins.

While cleanliness being next to Godliness is ageneraly accepted axiom, it is also a matter of not that soap, the concrete symbol of cleanliness, is closely allied to the progress of civilization. The discovery and development of economical and efficient soap and soap products marked the beginning of the era in which the human race began its most rapid advance in intellectual and industrial aecomplishments. There are many conspicuous individaul cases where genius and soap are not on intimate terms, but, generally speaking, personal cleanliness develops spiritual cleanliness, ambition, accomplishment and a deeper appreciation of the beauties of life.

BLOOMFIELD IS '31 CONVENTION CITY

Bloomfield as the 1931 convention city of the Southeast Missouri Christian Endeavor Union, was the unanimous choice of the annual convention delegates in session last Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Dexter. The specific dates for the convention will probably be held in March next year.

Miss Jessie Lee Hardin of Campbell, Walter Weekley of Sikeston and Miss Helen Wimer of Poplar Bluff were re-elected to serve another year in the respective capacities of President, vice-president and treasurre of the district union. Miss Mildred Kerr of New Madrid was elected secretary and Rev. R. M. Talbert of Cape Girardeau, named for the position of pastor counselor.

Superintendents of departments for 1931 were elected as follows:

Missionary, Miss Gladys Anderson of Dexter; Recreation, Miss Alker Dunn of Dexter; Prayer Meeting Willie' Coombes of Illmo; Lookout, Deane Whitten of Matthews; Jr. Superintendent, Miss Juanita Glenn of Dexter. Installation exercises were conducted Sunday evening by Herman Vosloh of Poplar Bluff, president of the State C. E.

Miss Gladys Baols of Benton came down Friday for a visit with Miss Mable Foster.

Misses Virginia Mayfield and Ruby Hitt went to Oran Friday for a week end visit with Miss Myrtle Mancil.

Alden Stallings and Miss Marjorie Leslie were absent from school the latter part of the week because of illness.

Mrs. J. O. Huffstedler and daughter, Mildred, went to Canalou Friday for a week-end visit at the E. H. Percy home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell Thompson of Charleston were visitors at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. L. C. Leslie, Friday.

Misses Virginia and Marilyn Eachus of Lambert were week-end visitors of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McDonough.

Garrett Marshall and Madison Zaricor of Commerce were among the out-of-town visitors at the Masonic lodge here Friday night.

Each of the girls is equally skillful in playing either right-handed or left-handed. One day, Daisy plays the "iron" shots,—does all the playing with the iron clubs,—while Violet plays with the wooden ones. The next day, they alternate. The Hilton girls have tried to play two different games at the same time, but after finding that it didn't furnish as much enjoyment as the single game, they have developed a skill in the ancient Scotch game that is as uncanny as it is unusual.

Picnic days are just around the corner. Fishing tackle is being lovingly overhauled and new camping contraptions are looming large in the advertsement columns. One of the most alluring is a small portable charcoal stove with two vertical burners which will broil steak or chops on both sides at once, the fuel being charcoal briquettes ranged along the two sides. Enough heat radiates to boil coffee or vegetables on the flat metal top.

SCHOOL BOARD LETS CONTRACT FOR EAST WING TO CAPE CONTRACTOR–COST $11,783

The Sikeston School Board in session Wednesday night let the contract for the construction of an East wing to the present high school building to S. R. Smith, contractor of Cape Girardeau, who offered a bid of $10,688 for the work.

A heating contract was let to L. T. Davey, local contractor and heating expert, at a cost of $1095, making the total cost of the improvement $11,783. The Board had figured the approximate cost at $12,000.

The cost of this wing, it is explained, is not to fall upon the taxpayers as a special tax item. That amount has accrued in the treasury out of building fund savings over a period of years.

S. R. Smith constructed the Welter building on Center Street. As soon as two jobs are finished, he will move materials and necessary equipment to the Sikeston location. Actual construction is to begin in about two or three weeks, and the work completed by the midle of August or in time for the September term of school.

There is only a slight modification in the interior arangement of the east wing from that of the west wing. Outwardly, there will be very slight changes. A workshop addition to the present manual training department, locker rooms and dressing rooms are added features of the ground floor, according to R. E. Bailey, secretary of the Board. The second and third floors will be composed of one study hall and class rooms, furnishing accommodations for approximately 200 children. It is proposed, according to Roy V. Ellise, superintendent, to move the sixth grade department to the high school building next fall, to allow expansion of the lower five grades in the old building.

A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FROM COUNCILMAN HOUCHENS

Sikeston has spoken and her voice will be heard reverberating through this fair land of ous.

Naturally our hearts are filled with gratitude and we desire to extend our sincere thanks to our committee for their untiring efforts in securing and tabulating facts, and for the splendid report rendered. They deserve much credit.

We also thank Mayor N. E. Fuchs and all his co-workers, for their loyal work, especially Attorney Gresham, who used every honest effort in helping to present Sikeston with a municipal light plant on All Fools day. We would not forget the voters, as most all of the credit belongs to them. Their votes decided the issue and our gratitude cannot be expressed in words.

The vote of confidence expressed in ward four is gratifying. We should all be thankful for one thing we have that many cities have not. We have an editor who is not controlled by the power trust, even though at times a silver dollar would look as large to him as a cartwheel, yet he remained loyal to his city, and it was largely through his efforts that success was achieved.

Now that Sikeston is to have a municipal light plant, your plant, my plant—it belongs to us all—we realize the huge task confronting us all.

Before success will crown out effort, we must each put our shoulder to the wheel and work in harmony for Sikeston.

May we all receive the benefit of our labor.

Yours for Sikeston.

R. M. HOUCHENS.

"J. S" STEAMER DE LUXE FINEST PLEASURE BOAT COMING TO CAIRO APRIL 23

The Palatial Steamer "J. S." which made its initial cruise South last Fall will return on its Spring Cruise up the Mississippi. Many of the people were amazed at this beautiful boat last Fall and will be surprised again as she has been redecorated and refurnished and will bring many new added attractions to the already handsomely furnished decks with stemer chairs, wicker furniture, gay colored cushions, gorgeous floor coverings, flower baskets, canopied ceilings, fountain, open air dining room and Venetian Ball Room with gay colored swinging lanterns. If you have not seen this incomparable river craft, you have surely missed something. The Cotton Pickers Orchestra, under the able direction of Fate Marable, will known to music lovers from New Orleans, Louisiana to St. Paul, Minnesota on the Mississippi River, and which is the same wonderful orchestra that played played aboard the "J. S." Steamer De Luxe last Fall, is coming again aboard this Steamer.

Our 32nd Year in Charleston

YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THE LIKE OF THESE

A number of the best constructed and most beautiful felt mattresses we ever laid our eyes on for the money asked are new items for this week. Prices on them run at $19.50 and $25.00 with the usual discount of 10% for all cash. Our salesmen are eager to show the construction and display the beauty of these new Springfield Felts.

SCOTT COUNTY GETS THE PRIZE

In thirty-two years of furniture selling we naturally have some transactions that stand out as unusual on our records, but a new record was set by Sam Rajotte last week when he sold our good friend Jesse Chappel of Blodgett THREE SELLERS KITCHEN CABINETS. Incidentally, Mr. Chappel paid spot cash which adds to our appreciation of the trade. We would find it hard sledding without the help of our Scott County patrons.

HOW MUCH DID THEY CONTRIBUTE?

A Credit Corporation was recently formed for the purpose of financing Mississippi County farmers over the 1930 crop season. Business interests of the county put in the neat sum of $8000.00 in cash to make it go, with no hope or expectation of receiving any interests at all on the investment. Chambers of Commerce, Lions Clubs, Kiwanis, and other service organizations are constantly at work trying to keep the business ball of Mississippi County rolling along, but we'd like to ask if anyone has seen the names of Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery-Ward, or any other mail order firm on subscription lists or among those who contributed thought and support to these worthy causes?

CAIRO MONEY LOOKS GOOD

Two former customers who now live in Cairo came over recently and picked out some nice pieces and you may wager we took special pains in filling the orders. The new bridge has proven valuable to us in many instances, this being one of them. We expect to register up more Cairo cash from time to time as news of our excellent stock and good service spreads in that direction.

PROBABLY THE LAST

A special purchase enabled us to run a price of $6.95 on 9x12 felt base rugs for the past two weeks. Twelve or fifteen of these rugs are still on hand and will be sold at that low price as long as they last—spot cash of course.

COME WHILE THE STOCK IS UNUSUAL

Living room suites in the latest coverings are here in dozens, in fact, this is the outstanding stock we have had for some years. Most of them came in direct from the factory last week and we are offering excellent service in the way of trades for used pieces. Come and see them before they are picked over.

It looks as though Sikeston would enjoy a building boom this season that will give employment to many workmen and bring to our city contractors and their crews who will leave much money behind. First, comes the addition to our High School building, followed by the installation of the distribution system for the municipal light plant then the erection of the building to house the machinery. This we know to be a fact. It costs nothing to surmise, so we will include the Federal Postoffice Building that we believe will be placed on the market in the late summer or early fall. Then there will be the building of the concrete highway north from Sikeston that will have their headquartres in Sikeston and the payroll checks will be cashed and partly spent in this city. Things do not look so blue to us, and should not, to our merchants and tradesmen.

The Standard is doing no crowing over a defeated foe—only regrets that the fortunes of war can only come to one of the beligerants. Whatever may be in store for the new venture, we can only hope for the best. If it should become necessary for a reduction of force at the Utilities office, if we had a say in the matter, we would take them on the list of the Municipal Plant because their knowledge and training would make them valuable, and their loyalty to the losing company make them absolutely trustworthy.

The present Digest poll may not be representative, nor will it please the W. C. T. U. of this country. At best a straw vote is a straw vote—relatively accurate means of arriving at tentative conclusions if fairly conducted. Prohibition as such has not been a success, economically, morally, socially or politically. If the same results can be obtained by a more common sense method of State regulation; by a modified form of the law, or by another means then it is time that the constitutional amendment was changed.

COUNCIL CHECKS ELECTION RETURNS

The "old" City Council met last Wednesday night to check election returns, and voted to accept the returns. The new board will be qualified and sworn in next Monday night, April 7, date of the regular monthly board session.

New members who will take their places on the board beginning next week are: Lynn Waggener, who defeated T. A. Wilson in Ward 1; C. E. Felker, who was unopposed in Ward 2, succeeding Charles Hebbeler; J. Otto Hahs, in Ward 3, succeeding Judson Board and R. M. Houchens in Ward 4, succeeding Clint H. Denman. Houchens defeated John G. Russell for the position of alderman.

The Council Wednesday heard the tentative agreement on the municipal light plant vote as expressed by Roger Bailey, city attorney. Bailey stated as his opinion that the proposition carried.

In view of the fact that the firm of Benjamin H. Charles, bond attorneys, would ultimately pass judgment on the soundness of the bonds, a final decision would be returned by Mr. Charles on the election results, said attorney Bailey.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM CHARLESTON

Forty members of the T. E. L. Class of the First Baptist church enjoyed a meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Sam Cavitt. The assistant hostesses were Mesdames Fon Finney, W. C. Sutherlin, Will Wright, Cade McElmurry and Mary Hart.

Mrs. Postum led the business session and program for the evening, following which a social hour was enjoyed and games and contests were features of entertainment. Mesdames Ed Townsend and Fred Dark were awarded prizes as winners in the contests. Cherry tarts, whipped cream and coffee were served by the hostesses. Spring flowers were used in decoration of the room thrown open for the guests.

A series of bowling games was played last Monday evening at the local bowling alley, between a picked team of Kiwanians and the Five Pin Kings of this city. The Five Pin Kings made a total score of 5108 and the Kiwanians 4866. Buck Sckyles, of the Kings, made the high score of 236, while George W. Kirk, of the Kiwanians, made 268. Those of the Kiwanians taking part were George W. Kirk, Dr. Spencer Love, Gunter Simpson, Frank Lair, Jr., Harry Bryant and Lanier Byrd. Those of the Five Pin Kings were Buck Sckyles, Dr. Harry Crowe, Harris Smith, M. F Day, Dr. Charles Rolwing and E. B. Hearnes.

USEFUL ARTICLES MADE OF SOYBEANS

The diversity of commercial products manufactured from soybeans was one of the main atractions on the Soybean Exhibit Train operated January 23 to February 27, 1930, by the Agricultural Development of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company in cooperation with the agricultural colleges of the western part of its territory and the mills utilizing soybeans.

The folowing statement by Fred W. Mangelsdorf, president of the Mangelsdorf Soybean Company at Atchison, Kansas, gives a comprehensive view of the extent to which soybeans are used in the manufacture of feeds and other products:

"The principal products manufactured by soybean oil mills are soybean oil meal and soybean oil. The meal is exceedingly high in protein and greatly relished by all farm animals. Soybean meal is used in enormous volume by manufacturers of feeds for all farm animals. Soybean oil meal is also made into different products for human consumption, for soybeans have many uses as human food. The domestic supply of this commodity is so inadequate that it is necessary to import from Manchuria a tremendous tonnage to supply our constantly growing need for feed or varied industrial purposes.

"With the increase in number and development in efficiency of the soybean mills and their products, the crop will continue to meet with a good market as well as show its value for feed and soil-improving purposes. Thousands of tons of soybean oil and products are imported into America annually, representing millions of dollars sent away which the American farmers have the opportunity of putting into their own pockets by giving more attention to this important crop. In 1926, 30,712,000 pounds of oil alone were imported.—Missouri Pacific Agricultural Bulletin.

ANOTHER RECORD COW MILKED BY MACHINE

Dairymen have been keenly interested in watching the number of record cows to be milked by machine during the period in which they establish their record. Announcement by the American Jersey Cattle Club, that Tiddledywink's Quality Girl has just completed a 365-day national record, during which she was milked entirely with a mechanical milker, marks the second Oregon Jersey cow within four months, to be milked by that method while establishing a world's or national record.

Quality Girl is owned by Mrs. F. G. Neal of Oregon City, who is the first woman to breed and test a Jersey cow making a 1000 pound butterfat record. The cow netted Mrs. Neal a profit of $976 above feed cost for the year.

The Standard editor is supremely happy over the outcome of the Municipal Bond Election for a Light and Power Plant, and wishes to congratulate the voters who went to the polls and put it over. The revenue from this plant will soon pay the bonds then take up the sanitary sewer bonds, and leave the city a nice income for civic purposes. This battle was won on merit without a cent of money being used and was an uprising of the people. There isn't a chance for it to fail and it should be the duty of every user of light and power in the city to hook up with the Municipal Plant just as soon as it is ready to operate.

• • •

The Standard editor voted for National Prohibition way back yonder when Heck was a pup, believing it would be a blessing to mankind. We have wished many times that we could recall that vote and vote for local option instead. We have lived to see boys and girls drink like old topers used to, have read of preachers and good men selling their souls for money, read every day of people dying from poison whiskey until we wish there never was a drop made. Of course, it is their fault, but when you say you shall not, Americans usually try to show you they can. We also wish there was some way that the law could be enforced, or tightened up so no foreign bootleggers and crooks could come into the country We now believe light wines and beer would take the place of bootleg whiskey and be less harmful to the body. What a mess we are all in over an evil that cannot be controlled.

The government at Washington, as is their duty so to do, informs us there are in Missouri, 83,403 illiterates. Yes, there are Blanton, Chilton and Loebe, but who the other 83,400 are we do not know.—Dexter Statesman.

• • •

The last minute candidates brought out by Special Interests fared badly in the city election, and should have. Dark horses entered in races are unknown quantities and sometimes upsets the dope sheets. In this instance, it was so obvious why these men were put in the races that it was distasteful to many who would have voted for them if they had been free of Special Interest influences.

• • •

A letter from Rev. S. P. Brite at Newport, Ark., informs us that he has accepted the pastorate of the Baptist church at Eureka, Kansas, and experts to be at that point some time this week. Friends in Sikeston wish he and Mrs. Brite good health and success in their new home.

The efforts made to have church socieites and civic organizations enter into the city election fight Tuesday was as unpardonable as was the action of Protestant Church organizations to take sides in the last Presidential election. Church denomination in politics lowers their influence as religious organizations and many in the land will never forget nor forgive the last Presidential election.

Another thing that makes us wish there was no booze in the land was a case we witnessed in New Madrid recently. A crap shooting gambler, bootlegger and drunkard, had mortgaged all his household goods to buy a car. He couldn't redeem the household effects and it was sold by the sheriff in a lump sum. If it had been only the booze fighter that had to suffer, no sympathy would have been extended, but he had a splendid wife and six small children that lost their home and beds. Officers had to go to a drinking joint to get the husband and he was staggering drunk. A good horse whipping should have been adminstered to him.

SEED LOANS TO BE MADE SOON IN FOUR REGIONS

Loans to farmers in storm, flood and drought-stricken areas of the United States, for seed, feed for work stock, and fertilizer for 1930 crops, will be made by the U. S. Department of Agriculture under the authority of a resolution passed by Congress and approved March 3, 1930, a fund of $6,000,000 having been provided in the Deficiency Act approved March 26. This announcement was made today by Dr. C. W. Warburton, Director of Extension Work, and Chairman of the Advisory Seed Loan Committee of the Department.

The Resolution authorizes the making of loans in areas in 15 States, where the Secretary of Agriculture finds need for such assistance exists.

For the prompt handling of applications four field offices are being established a widely separated points. Applications for loans from Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida, will be received at the Farmers' Seed Loan Office, Columbia, S. C.; those from Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and Oklahoma, will be handled at a similar office in the Old Custom House, St. Louis, Mo.; those from Montana, Minnesota and North Dakota, from an office at Grand Forks, N. Dak., and those from the flood areas in the Rio Grande Valley in New Mexico, from an office at Albuquerque, N. Mexico. The necessary forms have been printed and are now being distributed to committees in the counties in which loans are to be made.

L. Emory White, who handled the appropriation for loans in the Southeastern States last year, has been given general supervision of the operations. J. H. Lynch, who was associated with Mr. White in the Columbia, S. C., office last year, will be in charge of that office, from which it is expected that the larger part of the fund will be loaned. The St. Louis office will be supervised by T. Wed Harvey, of the office of Co-operative Extension Work that in Grand Forns, by O. S. Fisher, also of the office of Co-operative Extension Work and that in Albuquerque by J. W. Park, of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Advances to borrowers will be made from each of these offices by temporary special disbursing agents asigned by the department for that purpose.

CHEVROLET ANNOUNCES NEW MODEL "SIX" SEDAN

Detroit, March 31.—A further indication of the advantages which accrue to the motroist through the economies of great volume production is seen in the announcement by the Chevrolet Motor Company today of a stylish new closed model—the Chevrolet Special Sedan, with body by Fisher.

Introduction of the new model, with its many expensive car features, brigs the Chevrolet passenger car line up to nine body styles, three open and six closed. The Special Sedan has been in production for several days and shipments are now going out to dealers.

A leading feature of the new model is its equipment of six wire wheels, with large chrome-plated hub caps. The two spare wheels are mounted in special fender wells. The exterior color scheme combines smart Boulevard maroon on the body with a harmonizing shade of red on the wheels.

Rich appointments found in the interior include arm resst, silk assist cords, combination vanity case and smoking set, rich upholstery fabrics and wide, deep seats with form-fitting cushions.

Like other passenger models of the 1930 Chevrolet, the care is powered by the 50 horsepower, six cylinder, valve-in-head motor; it has fully enclosed, internal expanding four wheel brakes, four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers and a bigger rear axle.

The price of the Special sedan has been set at $725, f. o. b., factory, Flint, Mich.

BLACK WALNUT MEATS ARE IN GREAT DEMAND

Packers of black walnut kernels are having diffculty in securing a sufficient supply, according to C. A. Reed of the United States Department of Agriculture. There is but a very small demand for the unshelled nut, the principal market being for the kernels.

Mr, Reed suggests that those who have a supply of well-cured black walnuts may profitably utilize some spare time by cracking the nuts. The price paid for bright, light-colored, plump kernels is at present 65c a pound in barrel lots and 60 cents a pound pound in semaller lots. The priee, however, varies considerably according to the quality of the kernels.

The principal markets for black walnut kernels are Baltimore, St. Louis, Chicago, and New York. It is a good plan, suggests Mr. Reed, to make arrangements for marketing the kernels before the walnuts are cracked. The Department of Agriculture can supply names of firms who handle black walnuts.

ANNUAL CLOTHING BILL FOR TEXAS GIRLS $41.54

Thirty 4-H Club girls in Motley County, Texas, kept records on the cost of their clothing last year as a basis for budgeting this year's clothing expenditures, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The girls were from 12 to 17 years old. The average yearly cost was $41.54; the highest, $96, for a girl who had to pay to have her sewing done; and the lowest, $16.70, for a girl who sewed all her own clothes. Ten girls who used four pairs of cotton hose and two pairs of silk paid out $5.36 for this item, on the average, while those who wore silk hose entirely averaged nine pairs, costing $13.32.

The Standard $1.50 per year.

The Sikeston Standard, $1.50.

TURKEY INDUSTRY GROWS IN NEVADA

U. S. Expert Finds It Easier With Small Flock Unit.

Nevada is building up a solid turkey producing industry in a logical way, in the opinion of H. L. Shrader, extension poultry specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, who recently paid a visit to this state.

The growing of the holiday bird in Nevada is on a farm flock basis, the expert stated, with from 150 to 300 birds, as a rule, being raised along with other crops. It is easier with the small flock unit produced in co-operation with other crops, according to the federal man, to raise the type of high-grade bird for which Nevada is becoming known.

Two of the best feeds for turkeys are milk and alfalfa, and these, Shrader said, being produced on the farm with the turkeys, afford good feed at a low cost. With such small flocks, he said, the farm wife can take care of a good share of the work, thus cutting costs, as otherwise extra labor might have to be hired.

The outlook for expansion in the industry in Nevada is good, the specialist stated. Nevada conditions, he believes, are well suited to turkey production.

"Turkeys and chickens should never be run together," he declared, explaining that parasites, little harmful to chickens, but deadly to the bronze birds, are carried by the chickens. Turkeys should be kept far from the farmhouse, he believes.

Sanitation in another means of keeping turkeys disease-free, he stated.

Buy Tested Cod Liver Oil for Laying Fowls

The use of cod liver oil in feeding laying hens during winter months and in raising young chicks during the early spring is one of the recent developments in poultry production. Practically every one who has used a good quality product has found that it has been helpful in keeping up the vitality of the flock, preventing leg weakness in chicks and securing a better texture of shell with eggs.

The reason for the value of this product is largely due to the vitamine D which it contains. Vitamine D is the substitute for sunshine. It helps fowls to properly absorb the minerals which they consume. Without vitamine D or sunshine, fowls will fail properly to absorb minerals, even though they may be abundantly supplied.

The popularity of cod liver oil has encouraged the use of many substitutes. The fishy odor which is characteristic of many of these products is not a guarantee that they are of any particular value from the standpoint of being a substitute for sunshine. There is even a good deal of difference in the efficiency of cod liver oil, so it is well to buy a product that is either tested for vitamine content or guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Turkeys Thrive While Roosting in the Open

It is unnecessary to provide a house for turkeys though it is the part of wisdom to have a shed handy into which they may be driven on extremely stormy nights.

As a usual thing they will do better roosting out in the open even in quite severe weather.

Where only a small flock is kept 15 females may be mated with one male if he is unquestionably vigorous. If a flock of about 25 or 30 is kept, two males will be needed but they should not be allowed to run with the flock at one time.

One should be allowed to run with the flock one day and the other the next.

The reason for this is that where both are allowed to mingle with the flock at the same time, they will fight until one of them becomes boss, after which he will do most of the mating and the flock will be very little better off so far as the fertility is concerned than if it had a single male.

Eliminate Bedbugs

The best method of eliminating bedbugs from a hen house is to first thoroughly clean the entire house, getting out every little speck of both dust and straw. After this thoroughly cleaning, the walls and perches should be painted with carbolineum, and the rest of the house sprayed with a 20 per cent solution of soluble stock dip. If this application is done thoroughly, it will eliminate all of the live bugs, but probably will not affect the eggs. The second application is necessary.

Yellow Corn Best

Yellow corn is especially valuable for winter feeding on account of its fattening qualities and vitamine content. If possible, at least half of the grain feed should be yellow corn. If white corn, wheat, kafir, or other farm grains are fed instead of yellow corn, alfalfa should be added to the rations to help supply vitamines. Alfalfa leaves or alfalfa meal will replace the vitamines of yellow corn if the latter is not available. The winter ration must contain protein.

BLUE JAY BALL TEAM MAY USE BOB MOW, JR., INFIELDER

Fulton, March 31.—Robert H. Mow of Sikeston, has come out for a tryout on the baseball squad at Westminster College in Fulton, where he is a freshman. He is a graduate of the Sikeston High School, where he had four years of experience as a baseball player on class teams.

Mow played outfield, second base and shortstop and at the Blue Jay camp will devote his efforts toward trying to land a job at one of the infield positions. With the exception of Boyd at shortstop, the Westminster team will have to replace men with youngsters and Mow stands an excellent chance of landing one of the places.

Coach J. E. Houston says he is well pleased with the showing of the Sikeston boy so far and that because of his experience in high school baseball, should develop rapidly.

Mow and his associates on the Blue Jay team will play the University of Missouri, this spring, for the first time in several years. The indications are that Westminster will play 8 or 10 games, depending upon weather conditions. Baseball is a very uncertian college sport because of the unsettled weather in spring and the fact that colleges close just about the time the baseball season gets well under way.

Last year Westminster did not play baseball.

At the present time, Mow is 5 feet, 8 inches high, weighs 130 pounds and is 18 year sold. His training in the Blue Jay camp this spring should be of considerable value to him. Mow reports that he is planning to follow the coaching game as a profession.

The Maryville State Teachers Collefe, Chillicothe Business College University of Missouri, Kemper Militry School of Boonville and the Kirksville Teachers are among the teams already booked by the Blue Jays.

SMALL CROWD HEARS GLEE CLUB HERE MONDAY NIGHT

A crowd of approximately 250 persons heard the William Wood Glee Club Concert at the high school last Monday night. The Club, in charge of B. H. Jameson and L. H. Diekroger of Fulton left Sikeston Tuesday morning for a 9 o'clock concert in Charleston, and filled another engagement in Cape Girardeau that night.

The Sikeston concert, according to reports of those attending, was more formal than some given here in the past. The entertainment was highly enjoyable, and seemed to please the small audience.

Glee Clubs from Morley, Morehouse, Matthews and New Madrid were guests of the local school.

Mrs. Caplinger, who has been visiting her husband, left Monday for her home in Jefferson City.

Mr. and Mrs. Weber of St. Louis returned with Dr. W. E. Derris and will visit the Derris family for a few days.

The Arbutus class of the Baptist Sunday school will meet at the home of Mrs. Jeff Hughes, 411 Dorothy Street, Monday evening, March 7. All members are urged to attend.

Golf, according to Jim Barnes, Bobby Jones and Gene Sarazen, must be about the easiest, the simplest and the most natural thing in the world to learn. But according to most "duffers"—devoted followers of the green fairways who spend much of their time and money and usually most of their patience in trying to get their game below the hundred mark,—mastery of golf is the inexplicable, baffling of sport.

As some astute sage once remarked, all things are comparative. Even the most hopeless golf "duffer" might consider his problems simple in matching his own difficulties with those of Daisy and Violet Hilton, "San Antonio's Siamese Twins", who are to appear at the Malone Theatre Tuesday, April 8.

The Hilton girls were born joined together at the base of their spines by an artrial cartilaginous cord. They play a remarkably good game of golf, —the "game" is purposely used singularly, for the two girls play but one game.

Each of the girls is equally skillful in playing either right-handed or left-handed. One day, Daisy plays the "iron" shots,—does all the playing with the iron clubs,—while Violet plays with the wooden ones. The next day, they alternate. The Hilton girls have tried to play two different games at the same time, but after finding that it didn't furnish as much enjoyment as the single game, they have developed a skill in the ancient Scotch game that is as uncanny as it is unusual.

ARBUTUS CLASS MEETS AT FELTNER HOME LAST FRI.

The Arbutus Class of the Baptist Sunday School, held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. C. R. Feltner Friday evening, March 28 with group 1 as hostess. Each member was asked to bring their husband or a friend.

After the guests were assembled in the beautiful living room, decorated for the occasion, they were asked to give a penny for every inch they measured around their waist, this realized a nice little sum to be used in furnishing the class room.

The evening was opened with a hearty hand shake with a paper sack tied over their right hand, followed ed by numerous other games of amusement and laughter. A prize was won for each game. The guests were also entertained by music and solos by Miss Taylor and Miss Feltner.

The hostess served a delicious plate lunch to the twenty-two members and four visitors pdesent.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Anderson and Mrs. Wade Anderson of Commerce were visitors to Sikeston Wednesday.

Mrs. Harvey S. Johnson will return to her home in Eldon, Mo., this Friday evening after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Welsh. She will ride as far as Columbia with Clarence Woodward, who will visit friends in that city.

COMMUNITY DANCE HERE NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT

A regular good time is promised by dance promoters at a big community affair scheduled for next Saturday night at the New Armory Hall, featuring the Kobler Profilet Serenaders of Cairo, Ill. Merchants are co-operating by offering several worthwhile prizes for the best dancing couples.

The promoters will conduct a "Nite in China Dance" at the Hall next Wednesday night, featuring Johnny Brown's Playtone orchestra from Jackson, Tenn. The Playtone boys are rated as one of the best colored orchestras in the South.

TWO WOMEN START 1000-MILE JOURNEY ON $2

The so-called weaker sex again vindicated its true position this week Wednesday, when Mrs. J. B. Bergmeier and a girl friend started from Gary, Ind., to visit friends in Mississippi, on exactly $2.00. The women were stopped in this city by Jim Pitman, deputy sheriff, who noticed that their Studebaker coupe carried 1929 license plates.

Mrs. Bergmeier paid a small fee and purchased 1930 plates after wiring her husband in Gary for money and continued her journey southward

Mr. Reader, of the Highway Department, left for Jackson Thursday. Mrs. Reader and little son will join him in a few weeks.

JUFFERINGS OF TWO YEARS END; KONJOLA WINS

Severe Case of Stomach Trouble Had Resisted All Efforts to Secure Relief.

MRS. G. NEWBURY

"I believe that Konjola added years to my life", said Mrs. G. Newbury, 1413 Destrehan street, St. Louis. "For the past two years I suffered from severe stomach trouble Soon after eating, gas formed and caused a burning sensation. This was followed by belching of hot, bitter liquids and severe headaches. My abdomen was swollen and tender. Naturally I lost weight and strength. Nothing agreed with me, in spite of medicines and treatments without end.

"A friend recommended Konjola and after inquiring about it, I found that in countless cases it proved the only remedy that brought relief . I began the treatment, and the first week I noted a wonderful improvement. From then on I rapidly gained my lost health. My husband also suffered from stomach and kidney trouble, but Konjola made a different man of him. Konjola surely brought health and happiness into our home".

Konjola is a systematic treatment taken after meals. Quickly it goes to the source of the ailments and, if taken with regularity, it brings new vigorous and abundant health.

Konjola is sold in Sikeston at the Derris Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

I take this method of thanking you all for your loyal support in electing me Police Judge to take care of your office for the ensuing term, at a time too, when I was unable to appear among you and assist you as I should, having been prevented by a sudden and severe attack of illness.

It has been said, by Harness Horse people, in Horse Parlance, that a "Guidless Wanderer", is hard to defeat. This is what I was forced to represent in this political race, and proved the addage.

I further assure you that in the future as in the past, I will do my very best to improve the moral condition of Sikeston, a village in my youth and pride in manhood.

Sincerely yours,

JOS. W. MYERS.

Mrs. Effie Hunter returned home Thursday.

Dozens of supposedly doubtful advertising cases are sent to the Better Business Bureaus each day by people who are interested in assisting the Bureaus in building public confidence in advertising and selling. These cases form the basis of both inquiry and complaint.

This co-operation is valuable, for it enables the Bureaus to know what schemes are active, and what misrepresentations, if any, are prevalent.

By keeping the Bureaus informed, they are thus better able to protect you. Money squandered in fake financial and merchandise schemes has a direct and serious effect on the prosperity of every community.

When you receive advertising literature and you believe it deserves investigation, mail it in. When you come in contact with unfair schemes advise the Better Business Bureau. Such a move keeps the Bureau constanly informed, and may save you serious loss.

Or, your action may save thousands of dollars for other people who will be protected through your thoughtfulness.

If you are in doubt, make no decision and send no money until you receive the facts.

Get the facts first.

EXPECT 200 AT COTTON MEETING

Invitations have been extended to 300 farmers, bankers, merchants and other interested in the production and marketing of cotton, to attend a Cotton Marketing Conference called by the Agricultural Extension Service to meet at 9:30 a. m. Monday, April 7, in the Circuit Court room at New Madrid. At least 200 representatives from the leading cotton counties in Missouri are expected to attend this conference to consider to what extent Missouri will co-operate in carrying forward the plans and program of the Federal Farm Board with reference to the production and marketing of cotton.

Among those who have accepted invitations to address the conference are the following: Carl Williams, member of the Federal Farm Board; F. B. Mumford, Dean, Missouri College of Agriculture; Dan T. Gray, Dean, Arkansas College of Agriculture; B. J. Burgess, Executive Secretary Mid-South Cotton Co-operative Association; Charles G. Henry, Presidean, Arkansas Cotton Growers Association; X. Caverno, President, Missouri Cotton Growers' Association, and marketing specialists and economsits associated with the institutions represented on the program.

Admittance to this conference will be by card. Those desiring to attend from Scott County who have not received a card may secure one by getting in touch with A. J. Renner County Agent or some member of the committee.

Barney Gilbert, 18-year-old Los Angeles youth, believes in taking short cuts. Police Judge H. S. Farrell called Gilbert's name in court at Alhambra, Cal., on a speeding charge. "Where's Gillbert"? he asked, looking over the room. "Why he's already served his time", said Police Chief J. W. Thompson. "He hasn't even been sentenced. What do you mean?" asked the judge. Then Thompson explained that Gilbert had presented himself at the police station a few days before.

As many as 600 workmen and seven repair ships were working at one one time on the repair of the trans-Atlantic cables which were broken in the earthquake shock of November last, and while this work has been going on ever since, it is only recently that the labor has been completed. It was necessary to perform much new work in splicing the broken ends, for parts of the cable seem to have been lost entirely.

TOBACCO LEAF MINUS NICOTINE MAKES SALAD OIL AS WELL AS CIGARS

Berlin, March 31.—Nicotineless tobacco leaf which produces both salad oil and cigars will be exhibited in the traveling fair which begin at Cologne May 27.

Although attempts have been made to extract the nicotine from tobacco, it was believed here that this would be the first exhibit of tobacco grown without nicotine.

The salad oil is said to be of fine flavor and nicotineless cigars to have a pleasant aroma.

PHARRIS RIDGE CLUB MET LAST SATURDAY

The Merry Stitchers 4-H Garment Making Club No. 1, met Saturday March 22, with all members present. The meeting was called to order by repeating the 4-H Club pledge. After the roll had been called by the Secretary, Mrs. Brown took up the study of the lesson. The stockings that had been darned by the girls were judged first. Afterwards the pillow case were also judged. Mrs. Brown then showed the girls how to make seven fancy stitches and a nice buttonhole. For the next meeting the girls are to bring along cloth to make an apron, a buttonhole, and have their scarfs completed. They will meet April 5 at the home of the president, Edith Hensley.

PREVENT CROWDING AND SMOTHERING OF CHICKS

When the right temperature is maintained in the brooder house, there is less possibility of the chicks developing the habit of crowding. To begin with, the temperature should be 95 to 98 degrees Fahrenheit, two inches above the floor at the edge of the canopy or 1½ to 2 feet from the stove. As the chicks grow older the temperature may be reduced almost one degree each day until 70 degrees Fahrenheit is reached according to Berley Winton of the College of Agriculture, who has been working with County Agent Renner.

Even though the temperature is properly maintained, chicks may learn to crowd and smother each other. To prevent this, one may use a light in the house at night. If electricity is available, a ten watt bulb will give sufficient light for a 10x12 brooder house. A lantern that is kept clean will also give sufficient light so that the chicks can see to get away from each other. An intensely bright light is not advocated for this purpose. The disadvantage in using a lantern arises from a greater danger of fire.

ORAN FARMER HAS GOOD LUCK WITH BABY CHICKS

Two hundred and thirteen chicks raised to seven weeks of age without losing a single chick are the results obtained by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pobst of Caney Creek, north of Oran. These chicks were hatched on February 3 put into a comfortable brooder house and given the corn and mash ration as recommended by the County Agent.

Mrs. Pobst stated to County Agent Renner that she had never been so successful in raising chicks as she was this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Pobst, north of Oran, on Fabruary 6, placed 197 Buff Rock chicks in their brooder house On March 29, they had lost only 5½ per cent of their chicks. The first feed for these chicks was finely cracked yellow corn. Every two hours they alternated the feed giving cracked yellow corn for the first feed in the morning then within two hours a mash feed, the next two hours yellow corn was given, etc.

CHARLESTON ELECTION IS QUIET AFFAIR

Charleston, April 2.—The municipal election which was held here yesterday was a very quiet affair.

Councilmen on the Democratic ticket were elected as follows:

1st Ward—Chas. W. Reid 39 votes.
2nd Ward—Harry T. Bryant, 31.
3rd Ward—Henry A. Brasher, 24.
4th Ward—George Cox, 25.

The first three were elected without any opponents, in the fourth there was a few votes cast for P. L. Bastain. For school district—Robert Fowlkes, 118 votes and Elmer Oliver, 119 votes, were elected without opposition as school directors. For nine months school—125 for, 12 against.

To levy tax of sixty cents in excess of forty cents on the hundred dollars valuation for school purposes, 114 votes for, 26 against.

To levy a tax of twenty cents on the $100 valuation for repairing and furnishing the school buildings of the district, 103 for, 34 against.

To change the boundaries of the school district as set out in the notices of election, 145 for, 7 against.

A FAIR PRICE FOR SILAGE

Because silage does not enter generally into trade, there is no widely accepted method of figuring its value. Such a plan would be helpful since silage is one of the leading cattle feeds and is often sold in quantities to neighbors, by farmers who have a surplus.

Analysis by the dairy department of the Ohio Experiment Station show that good corn silage contains approximately one-third as many nutrients, by weight, as high grade mixed hay. In this case a fair price for silage can be computed by taking a third of the market price per ton for hay.

If the price of hay is unusually low or high, the Ohio station reports that the value of silage may be figured by allowing from four to five bushels of grain, and about 500 pounds of dry stover per ton of ensilage. This price will usually compare closely with that obtained by taking one-third the price of hay.

WHEAT EXPERIMENT CONCLUDED ON FRANK VAN HORNE FARM

The variety wheat demonstration which is conducted on the farm of Frank Van Horne, on the Sikeston Ridge, by the Missouri College of Agriculture, shows that out of six standard varieties, Harvest Queen shows less winter kill than any variety. Full-Caster and Poole are next in order. According to County Agent the Harvest Queen came thru the winter with 90 per cent stand.
